Call For Transportation Bids

Notice is hereby given that School District 39 (Oregon Trail) will receive bids for the transportation of school pupils. Requirements for successful bidders is on file with the clerk of the district Wyatt Smith.

Bids will be opened at 8 p. m. August 2, 1938. The school board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

weary creature would rest a moment at his side seeming to know that this old proven friend of his was doing all in his power to stop the hurt in its body. Truly it didst blot out a bit the stories we have so recently heard of abuse and cruelty.

This now that the I. O. N. road should be in tip top shape that this harvest of ours might go to seaports for transportation at a minimum of cost and time.

It did come to mind this past week that to keep the feminine charm throughout the hot summer days was a never ending task and one which requires eternal vigilance. And tis here that the new and modern deodorants and perspiration killers do stand us in such good stead and there be no better place in town to replenish things worn out and out moded stock than at the Nyssa Pharmacy.

And whilst we are in the way of odors and such what notes we did not long since talk with an American born Japanese who had recently returned from his first visit to the home of his ancestors. He didst tell us that there they didst object to the occidental smell of him and to the stench at American foods as we do to those scents peculiarly oriental. And we were reminded of the first time we didst partake of Japanese fish broth. Our thoughts didst conjure up pictures of desiccated crabs on a warm beach and an old coyote that long since breathed his last on the desert. But we didst drink it down and since have come to like it. Also that succulent saki yaki they do serve with raw egg is indeed a choice morsel.

But for Americans the good old three squares a day sufficeth and the staples that our grandmothers served still spell good eats to most of us. And at the Wilson Grocery they do carry them in all standard brands and in packages large or small to fit thy family's need.

And speaking of Standard brands perhaps nothing be more standardized than the gasoline we do burn in the family Lizzie. Only the highest grades of established firms are now recognized as fit for the modern motor. But all do know that the Shell gas that Art Norcott doest pour from his tanks in large amounts daily into the smaller tanks of waiting cars do be of this high tested and satisfaction giving motor fuel.

We didst this past week stop for a chat with our good friend Herschel Currey and spy about a bit to see what things new and different there were upon the shelves of his apothecary shop. Drugs of course of all kinds and colors. But tucked away on a lower shelf were some lovely Chinese brasses. Just the things for party prizes this summer. One particularly nice, was a diminutive opium bowl on a teak wood stand.

Hast noticed the fine pictures shown or about to be shown for thy delectation at the Theatre these coming weeks. Surely one need not hunt far fields for pleasant entertainment these days.

With all this building going on about us and rumors of even more to come tis not strange that new dealers in these commodities have joined those long established in our community. And the latest to add his name to the building material supplies is Mr. Ostrum of the Nyssa Lumber company.

We didst this past week view in despair the remains of our young and thriving marigold plants after a hungry horde of grass hoppers finished their noon repast and since have an increased sympathy for those people in the middle west whose entire fields and living are being taken over by the vagrants. Millions of them suddenly settling as a black cloud in one place and like the Grim reaper taking everything in sight. Crawling, crawling until they be inches deep and leaving behind them a parched and barren land where even a goat could not be supported in the manner he is accustomed to.

Also we didst this last week chat with a young farmer on the new land who didst tell us much of interest of noxious weeds. The thing called white top which is already becoming a menace in some portions of this country and the bind or morning glory weed which now has taken whole areas in the Dakotas where once rich farm lands had to be abandoned and the impoverished owner forced to start elsewhere because they did not realize the menace of them in the beginning and foolishly delayed too long in attempting their control and extermination. The nine lives of a cat passes into nothing in comparison with the tenacity and persistence of these pernicious pests. And here again eternal vigilance becomes the password in their extermination. This chap who does know his biology and chemistry as well as his weeds didst tell us also that there were certain chemicals that could be applied that if started in time could and would do this job of elimination and control of noxious weed problem. And if one is interested the County agents of office will most gladly supply the information and co-operate in every way in aiding in this most valuable and necessary work if our lands are to remain clean and free from diabolical vegetation.

But one of the best methods of prevention of these biological pests is to be sure of planting clean and inspected seeds. And when one purchases seeds from the Al Thompson feed and seed yard that be the kind that they get always.

Art vacation minded but thy clothes have assumed a worn and bedraggled attitude toward life and if thou doest purchase new ones there will be nothing left for the trip. Cheer up take them into Mrs. Morgans Nyssa Tailor shop for a refurbishing and renewal process. Truly they pass for new ones again.

But before thou doest depart supply thyself with new accessories for the old frock if thou wouldst feel that they are new. Some new summer shoes and collars and cuffs. A tie perchance and gloves to match. And all these things thou canst purchase at the Golden Rule store to match any costume.

Verily we do dwell in the land of abundance. On every side as the harvest ripens we do hear stories and see the proof of them of huge yields. Alfalfa measuring eight feet and over. Not just one stalk but many of them, and barley, forty bushels to the acre on new lands where but a year ago twas still covered with sage and cactus. But if thou wilt not believe it take a look at the fruit stands at Walter Foxes piled high with all manner of freshly ripened fruits and vegetables. Truly the brilliance of their colors do make a picture to tempt an artist. And there thou canst purchase all the things for thy canning needs or a little dab for table use.

Often at eve we do sit on the river bank and watch the beauty of sunset give way to the quiet of blue shaded twilight. And do think how grand would be if Nyssa could but own it for its own for a park. Verily in time it could be made as lovely as that Golden Gate in San Francisco. There is natural sand for the youngsters to play in room for tennis courts and a ball diamond, a place for boating and swimming and a natural zoo. For there the water fowl and wild birds do nest unafraid, ducks and geese and pheasants, a pair of white heron and the wee feathered fowl too many to mention. But what could lovelier than the flash of the oriole into the setting sun? And beavers do build a mighty dam there and grow to look like fat hogs in swimming.

And just lately we have watched each evening three otter come up on the sandy bank to give their faces a thorough washing and then to play about in the water as boys at a swimming hole. They seem to sense the protection that Uncle Sam has given them for watchers on the bank disturbed them not at all. But Nyssa is still but a little place with much to do towards modernization before we as a community can hope to take over such a project and no doubt when we are ready the land will still be there and the wild things who habitate it as well.

And by then we hope that the McClure brothers will still be our bakers but we do know that the bread that they bake now is perfect and does not need to wait for time to improve it. And whether it be wheat or rye or whole wheat or buns or cake or pie or cookies there they do make them all.

A friends didst tell us last week of an easy way to prepare ice cream in thine ice box. A can of pineapples in which twenty marshmallows have been melted added to a pint of partially whipped cream all of which can be purchased at the Ramsey market in a jiffy. Then place the mixture in the freezing pan and forget it until serving time allowing about three hours for the freeze. Aye verily tis good for we didst feast upon some that she had made.

But forget not this, if thou doest prefer to buy thy creams and sherbets or have not time for them to freeze at home, at the Owyhee drug store Omer doest every carry a fine assortment of frozen things for the purchaser to eat at the counter or to take home.
