BIRTHDAY DINNER PARTY
For the first time in many years Mrs. Arthur V. Cook celebrated her birthday anniversary at her mother's home. On Saturday Mrs. Cook with her cousin and house guest George M. Stevens motored to Boise where they were joined at the home of her mother, Mrs. Mary E. Loyl by her sisters and brothers in a family dinner party.

WATERMELON FEED
After a delightful concert on Wednesday evening the members of the band were treated to a feast of watermelons. The melons were presented by Mr. E. M. Gregg from his ranch near Ontario and Mrs. Arthur V. Cook was presiding hostess with several of the ladies assisting her in the serving. About 25 were present to assist in the eating.

TUESDAY BRIDGE CLUB
The Tuesday bridge club was entertained by Mrs. Dewey Ray and Mrs. S. A. Brown, Mrs. Kenneth

LEATHER TO PLAY STAR STYLE ROLE

Fall Fashions Will Give It Leading Part.

By CHERIE NICHOLAS
When you are scouting about in search of new fall fashions just say suede, kidskin or leather to your salesperson and then prepare for thrills, for you will be seeing some of the most exciting fashions created of various leathers.

Now that designers have become possessed with an awareness of the vast possibilities of suede used in a fabric way an entirely new chapter filled with thrilling ventures is being written into the book of fashion.

The custom-made costumes of suede that abound in the new fall collections promise to lead in the style parade. The smartest of these is worked out in two-color schemes, the jacket contrasting the skirt. Dresses softly styled of this supple suede are creating a sensation in fashion realms.

Then there is this matter of leather millinery. For downright chic there's nothing more so than the new tall (very tall) crowned sports hats that sport their brims forward and are of suede; also kidskin in the loveliest colors imaginable.

As to accessories there are numerous items to be had. Leather bags and gloves to match the hats, belts and buttons. As for leather trimmings designers are busy bringing out new ideas in suede or kidskin applique motifs with fancy pockets of leather, a special fashion highlight. Felt hats are often banded in leather and the newest wrinkle is suede streamers down the back of wide-brim felt.

Suede footwear will repeat its triumphs this fall and winter and there is special interest showing for exquisitely soft kidskin shoes.

SILK DAY COATS

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

A fashion that is proving most welcome and timely for midseason wear is the long coat of handsome black silk, either crepe, faille or ottoman weave. The model pictured gives the new corseted waistline via vertical tucks. Note also the flared skirt, with the new full-at-front silhouette. The baroque patent leather belt and the white pique buttoniere add swank to this outfit. Worn over the midsummer favorite print frock you have a costume that "carries on" triumphantly through the between-season interval.

Coclet, and Mrs. Frank Christy were guest players. High score was won by Mrs. Taylor Gudmundson and second went to Mrs. George Mitchell.

WEDNESDAY EVENING BRIDGE
Mrs. Klaus Tensen was this week hostess for the Wednesday evening bridge club and invited Mrs. Albert Tebbe as a guest player. High score went to Mrs. Tebbe and second to Mrs. Carl.

LAWN PARTY
Honoring Mr. and Mrs. Max Williams who left on Saturday for their new home Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cochran entertained a number of their friends at a lawn party on Thursday evening.

BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY DINNER PARTY
An interesting birthday anniversary dinner party was held on last Saturday evening when the members of the Foster and Council families gathered at the W. W. Foster home to celebrate the birthday anniversary of Mr. Alonzo Foster who is 92 years young and little Miss Vera Council who is now at the advanced age of 6 years.

Delegates to Leave
Curtis Foster was appointed to delegate to the National Methodist Youth conference at Boulder, Colo., with Joe Council as alternate. He and Bob Carpenter plan to leave Thursday morning for Boulder.

PEASANT FASHIONS CONTINUE POPULAR

By CHERIE NICHOLAS
The spirit of "let's be gay" persists throughout sports attire that flashes bright peasant colorings and amusing silhouettes that are quaintly picturesque. Dirndls? Yes, they answer "present" in the fall collections. The newest and smartest versions are done in lively wool challis prints. Some are girded with black velvet ribbon and faunt metal buttons—enough to strike any style-aspiring schoolgirl's fancy.

The Swedish motifs, with their gay embroideries, are popular as ever, and tall crowned alpine hats flaunting gay feathers are the milliners' pride for fall. The fascination of the peasant outfits lies in the fact they are often exact replicas and the more-young girls look like gaily attired peasants "just landed" the smarter they are attired according to fashion's verdict.

Street Length Clothes Go Picturesque for Fall Wear

Paris dressmakers are seeing to it that informal and street length clothes are every bit as glamorous and exciting as evening gowns.

Bruyere answers the challenge with picturesque—a full skirted, taffeta dress worn over a starched petticoat. White stockings and a poke bonnet complete the old-fashioned picture.

Paquin solves the problem with sophistication in a series of dressy afternoon suits with draped jackets and small but rippling collars of fox.

Young People Stay At Home In Cozy Basement Play Room

WHEN remodeling the present home or in building a new, low cost house, plans should include a cozy play room where the children and young folks can entertain friends. Space for a ping pong table, card tables or a small dance floor is available usually as "waste space" in the basement.

A "new wrinkle" is the air conditioned play room for the moderate price home at no greater cost than the old fashioned heating system. This Carrier air conditioner shown in the picture above supplies the home with year around air conditioning, heating and hot water.

PART FABRIC, PART KNIT NEW FORMULA

By CHERIE NICHOLAS
College girl, here's your cue to smartness in dress this fall. Which is to the effect that the sweater and the cloth skirt in accurate color match is a fashion "must" this coming season. So there's lots of fun ahead matching a sweater knit of shetland, cashmere or angora wool to the skirt of patterned tweed, or if you prefer, a monotone wool of plain or novelty weave. Your choice runs from rich dark autumn tones to the eye-so-fashionable pastel colors.

Then there are those amazing three-piece ensembles that employ the identical yarn employed in knitting the sweater, as is used for weaving the cloth for jacket and skirt. There's no-end chic in the costumes of cloth that have short fur jackets with sleeves and borderings, knit of yarn in colors that tune to the scheme of things.

Cerise Added to Popular Pinks by Paris Stylist
Cerise is a new step on the ladder of pinks. A pleasant variation of the more purplish fuchsia shade, the cerise is used by Lelong for a flowing sash tying around a deep blue evening gown with a halter neck.

Adding Bright Touch
Flowers on the bodice of an evening frock matched by flowers in the hair supply all the decoration that one could want for festive occasions.

Moldy Colors
Moldy colors are being proudly displayed at the moment as being high style.

SHOES DE LUXE

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

A day in town for luncheon, tea or bridge will find you smartly turned out in this attractive ensemble of navy sheer. The jacket blouse, so profusely patterned with daisies, is high fashion, verifying the news that the bright jacket with black or navy dress will prove a favorite during the coming autumn days. The mushroom sailor is the perfect companion for this outfit, while the unusual triquetre bracelet of gold and brilliants lends infinite chic. The stunning shoes, a Pandora creation in smart strapped version, will speed you on wings of grace to your numerous appointments.
