Portable Electric Motor Is Ideal Power for Silo Filling

One of many farm chores done more easily and cheaply with electricity.

By IRA MILLER
Rural Electrification Bureau

TO many farmers silo filling is one of their biggest power jobs as well as one of their most expensive operations. This is true if the ensilage cutter is run at too high a speed and with too large a power unit, as such operation requires a large crew of helpers. Thus, in many localities it is not unusual to find 15 to 30-horsepower tractors and crews of 12 to 20 men filling the silo.

Reducing the speed of the cutter increases its efficiency and permits the use of smaller power equipment and a smaller crew. This is particularly important on those farms where high-line electricity is available, as it is the use of small power units that makes electrical energy so economical and practical in the business of farming.

As a matter of fact, it has been the small-farm operator who has really proved the general, practical and profitable use of the small electric motor—usually portable—for silo filling and numerous other tasks. For, working with limited help in most instances, he must utilize his physical strength to its greatest advantage yet not tire himself so greatly that his mind is not clear for planning his work. With electricity, a silo can be filled by a crew of only two men though the operation is not continuous.

Miss Angela Thomasey is working in Payette now.

Miss Maude Crosby of Russell, Kas., and her nephew Frank Stockwell of Buhl, spent the evening and stayed over night at the A. A. Bratton home Tuesday.

We are very glad to hear that the small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Downs is very much better and hope she keeps improving.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Cochran, Mr. and Mrs. Z. W. Beatty, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Wyckoff and family, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Bratton and family Chester Glaze, Melvin Spitz, and C. S. Wyckoff enjoyed a picnic at the park in Ontario Tuesday then in the afternoon went to Fruitland and picked cherries. There are still lots of cherries yet on the trees.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Overstreet and family went to Caldwell Wednesday on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Shaw and family spent a week in Council visiting friends and huckleberries. They brought back a load of bricks for the chimney of the new house they are building.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Overstreet and Maude left Thursday for Payette lakes returned Sunday. While there they took in the ball tournament and water carnival.

Mrs. Gerald Goodfellow and children called at the Bratton home Thursday.

Mrs. A. A. Bratton and daughters called on Mrs. Noah Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell Taylor of Walla Walla, Wash., visited with his sister, Mrs. H. L. Brooks and family Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Z. W. Beatty, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Wyckoff and family Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Bratton and family, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Cochran and Eunice, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Holcomb and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cochran, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McElroy and son, Chester Glaze, Melvin Spitz, C. S. Wyckoff and Forest Bodner had a farewell picnic dinner at the Apple Valley school house Sunday for Mr. and Mrs. k. W. Beatty, Chester Glaze and Mrs. R. M. Cochran who left for Kansas.

We hear Mr. and Mrs. Earl Walker have moved to Fruitland where he has work.

H. L. Brooks had the misfortune to lose a horse last week.

Miss Sophia Kralik called at the Bratton home Sunday evening.

Orland and Joe White are helping Steve Kralik stack his wheat bundles.

Mrs. George Stewart reported having a nice time at summer camp which was held at Payette lakes last week. This is a good chance for the farm women to have a vacation and a good time.

Mrs. Wilbur Holcomb and sons of Nyssa were out after alfalfa Monday morning.

Mrs. Bob Crummett and Joy called on A. A. Brattons Monday.

Harold Turner will leave Tuesday for Portland where he will be under observation at the Shriners hospital.

A large number plan to attend the Co-op picnic at the Butler Grove Tuesday.

All former Kansans are looking forward to renewing acquaintances

Of course, the owner of a large farm likewise greatly benefits from the application and use of electricity. For, using a portable motor to fill the silo, not only can he keep his tractors in the field but also he can reduce the silage crew to four to eight men depending upon the length of haul.

Numerous tests have shown that, using modern ensilage cutters with 12 to 16-inch throats and operating them at speeds proportional to the height of the silo and the diameter of the cutter fan, a portable five-horsepower, 1,800 r.p.m., motor will cut and elevate an average of five tons of ensilage per hour with a current consumption of about one kw.-hr. per ton.

Naturally, the capacity as well as the power required will vary with the length of the cut, the quality of the fodder, the size of the bundles and method of feeding, height of the silo, sharpness of the cutting knives and several other factors. However, under normal conditions and with modern equipment, a farmer can fill his silo electrically at a power cost of three to five cents per ton, depending upon the rate he pays for current.

This is approximately one-third to one-fourth the cost of other sources of power for such service. When to these savings are added those resulting from the smaller crews required, it is apparent that a total saving of 15 to 25 cents per ton can be effected by using a portable electric motor for silo filling.

and making new one at the Kansas picnic next Sunday.

Miss Violet Turner is spending several days in Homedale with her aunt and grandmother.

OREGON TRAIL

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. DeGroff, Holis and Junior left last Wednesday on a two weeks vacation trip in Denver, Colo., visiting friends and relatives.

The upper shoeing ditch broke near Tans Wurl's last week but was reported in time to prevent serious damage. Extra men and equipment were moved in and the water was out of the ditch only a few hours.

Word has been received from Mrs. Wyatt Smith that she and the boys arrived at their destination safely.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Mattheberger took their infant son who has been ill for some time to Boise to a specialist the first of the week. It was necessary to have a minor operation performed. At the last report he was much improved.

Members of Oregon Trail P. T. A. should plan to attend the August meeting Friday evening at the P. G. Holmes home. A special program "The Fight to the Finish" has been planned and promises to furnish a very entertaining evening.
