While in Portland, members of the club were royally entertained by the head officer of the United States National Bank.

SEVEN COUNTIES FREE OF DEBT

HOLMAN REPORTS ON COUNTY INDEBTEDNESS

SALEM—Seven Oregon counties are entirely debt free, with neither outstanding bond issues nor warrants, according to a report compiled by State Treasurer Rufus C. Holman. These include Clatsop, Columbia, Douglas, Lake, Linn, Marion and Umatilla. Three other counties—Josephine, Polk and Washington—have no outstanding bond issues but have small amounts of warrants outstanding, according to Holman's report which is based upon conditions as of July 1, last.

The report shows that practically every county in the state is in better condition financially than it was two years ago with the aggregate indebtedness of the 36 counties bond and warrant reduced from $23,900,701 at of July 1, 1936, to $20,030,167 as of July, 1938, a reduction of $3,170,534 in the two year period.

Counties reporting the greatest progress toward debt reduction during the two years include Multnomah with a reduction of $997,638; Klamath with a decrease of $263,543; Coos with a debt retirement of $128,276; Jackson with a decrease of $136,131; Tillamook $98,709; Union, $89,722; Wasco, $192,000, and Washington, $84,113.

Coos is the only county in the state with a debt load in excess of five per cent of its assessed valuation. Other counties with high debt ratios include Grant, 4.71 per cent; Wheeler, 4.34 per cent; Morrow, 4.27 per cent; Multnomah, 4.26 per cent. The average debt ratio for all counties of the state is 2.23 per cent compared with 2.51 per cent two years ago.

A gift of $50,000 to the University of Oregon medical school by Mrs. Julius L. Meier, widow of the late governor, will be used in enlarging the new tuberculosis hospital, according to Dean Richard B. Dillehunt. The board of control has filed an application with the Public Works Administration for an additional grant of $41,000 to match the Meier donation.

John S. Conger Dies—

John S. Conger, 63, a bachelor who had been employed at the Caron farm on the Owyhee project for the past two years, passed away at the Ontario hospital last Thursday night from the effects of a major operation performed earlier in the day. His sister, Mrs. F. E. Atkins of Gettysburg, S. D., was at his bedside at the time of his death.

Funeral services were held at the Nyssa Funeral Home last Saturday, with the Rev. Floyd White, pastor of the Methodist church in charge. The body, accompanied by Mrs. Atkins, was shipped on the afternoon train to Snohomish, Wash., where a brother, William Conger, lives. Burial service were held in that city Monday.

Frost Complete Survey—

Bernard Frost has completed his power service survey of the Nyssa Heights area lying north of the cemetery and announced that within the week the work crews would start stretching the lines which will give electrical service to about a dozen families over a three mile area. And the work is expected to be completed in about a week after it starts so that these new subscribers will have service before the cold weather sets in.

It has been the policy of the Idaho Power to add these new services on the new land as soon as there are sufficient families to warrant it and for this reason the farmers in this area are far more fortunate in having the modern conveniences in their homes and on the ranches than many who have lived years in more populated and long settled communities.

Dixon Nursing Home—

The Dixon nursing home has been a busy place this week as well as the city physicians working overtime and unfortunately most of it cannot be blamed on the stork as he seems to be a bit lazy.

On Sunday at the Home an eight and a half pound son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Brunfield, with Dr. J. J. Sarazin in attendance. The lad has been named Clyde Dewayne.

Jack McConnell was a guest at the Home while he visited a few days from Baker.

Mrs. Hall from the land north of Nyssa was in for treatment under Dr. Kirby and Sarazin for the bite of a black widow spider but was able to return to her home after a days treatment.

The small son of Emil Vertrees of Apple Valley was a patient also of Drs. Sarazin and Kerby but also improved sufficiently to be returned home. Also the infant son of Al Chadburn of Parma recovered and was taken home.

FAIRWAY HILLS "LABRATORY COMMUNITY"

LUMBER INDUSTRY'S SMALL HOMES LABORATORY COMPLETED NEAR NATIONAL CAPITAL

Five of the eight homes in the "laboratory community" at Fairway Hills are illustrated. On the left is the "Eden," described as a garden apartment. This is the lowest cost home of the group. The "Eden" is a model of compact arrangement with a large well-lighted living-room and an unusual amount of closet space. Note how its low sweeping lines relieve any effect of littleness. Adjoining the "Eden" is a home specially designed as a suburban cottage. Its feature is a living room that extends through the width of the house with a spacious rear exit. The name of this home is the "Briarwild." The third house up the line is a Colonial two-story example that has been widely built in New England during the summer. This home is called the "Molly Pitcher." The cost range of the "Molly Pitcher" is from $4,000 to $4,800, depending on locality and quality of construction. The "Briarwild" is a less than $3,000 home, and the "Eden" comes within a cost range of from $1,800 to $2,500.
