

OREGON TRAIL

A number of people gathered at the school house Friday evening to attend the annual Halloween carnival sponsored by the Oregon Trail P. T. A.

In addition to the carnival E. M. Haneen showed four reels of moving pictures.

Those in charge of the booths were 4-H club candy booth, Mary Rookstool and Ione Benson. Pop corn booth, Mrs. Lloyd Adams and Mrs. Floyd Campbell Games, Mrs. F. L. Fry and Miss Goldie Miller Bings.

The carnival was planned by the ways and means committee consisting of Albert Hopkins, Frank Fry, Mrs. Chas. Thomason and from the many reports the carnival was a big success.

Grant Lewis was a dinner guest of Bob Holmes a week ago Sunday.

The young people who attended the weiner roast given by Helen Ramsey Thursday evening in Nyssa from here were Loretta Mitchell, Avis Ulrey, Cecil Benson, Gilbert Holmes and Harold Olson.

COW HOLLOW

We suppose the most discussed subject in Cow Hollow at the present time is water.

Some have too much and some not enough. Last week Geo Gabriel's pump quit pumping so they run all afternoon and up into the night hunting some one to pull and repair it.

Too much water. A few of us went over Saturday afternoon and worked like demons to help get Roy's clover in the stack.

Doc Raffington being crowded for time dug a hole with his team, to use for a cistern. He dug the hole 10 or 12 feet wide and about 25 feet long.

He stored his stock water and all was well and good until after the water was gone in the canal then the corner split in the concrete and spilled most of his water. No water.

Monday morning Gilbert Anderson came over to borrow our wagon to stack Mort Wilson's hay. We ask him if the hay wasn't pretty wet yet. He said yes, but it was clear and a nice breeze blowing so it was drying fast.

The water went off in the ditch last week and we find that Clarence Niccum's cistern is the only real cistern in Cow Hollow which will not hold water.

Oh such a life and no water! Jim Trummel has 14 acres of clover in the shock and wants to thresh at once for he must raise some money now Doc Raffington also has a field of clover in the shock and wants to thresh.

Monday Elza Niccum cut his mill for hay and got a good soaking in the rain.

Earl Heton and family returned to their home in Cow Hollow last week. They have been at Emmett all fall working the fruit.

Mrs. Chuck Share's father and mother are spending the winter with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard are still living on their homestead. They still at least have possession.

Mr. Gibson has built a house just across the line from the Howards expecting to move it over the line as soon as the Howards are gone.

Barbara Parker gave a party Saturday night. There were the lucky 13 guests present mostly her school friends that live in the neighborhood.

Rudd Robb took Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Newgen with Bonnie Mae to Ontario Saturday to see the doctor.

partly for a few Cow Hollow children.

Clarence Niccum has taken up four head of range cattle that were running on the crops in the neighborhood.
