STATE CAPITAL NEWS STATE CHIEF JUSTICE TAKES OFFICE

SALEM — Justice John L. Rand who became chief justice of the Oregon supreme court on January 1 has twice before served in that capacity from September 10, 1927, to January 7, 1929 and from January 2, 1933, to January 7, 1935. This high honor goes automatically to the member of the court with the shortest term to serve and with the greatest number of years of service on the bench to his credit.

1939 AUTO PLATES—OR ELSE

Procrastinating motorists who delayed their purchase of new license plates until after the first of the year found to their sorrow that the police were not fooling when they warned against appearing in public without the 1939 plates on their car. Hundreds of arrests were reported by state and city police in every section of the state. With the state department prepared to issue the new licenses promptly upon application law enforcement officials clamped down promptly on those who failed to display the new black and yellow tags.

THE ANTI-PICKETING LAW BACKERS TO BE QUESTIONED

D. E. Nickerson, secretary of the State Federation of Labor has filed a petition in the Marion county circuit court in an attempt to unmask contributors to a fund used to finance propaganda in support of the recently enacted measure regulating picketing. The petition names a number of prominent Portland business and industrial leaders as allegedly contributing sizeable sums to the fund of more than $80,000 raised by the Oregon Business Council, $32,000 of which is alleged to have been paid over to the Associated Farmers of Oregon for use in that organization's fight in behalf of the picketing bill.

COW HOLLOW

By The Happy Farmer

Doc Raffington's home appears to be headquarters for sickness in Cow Hollow. Friday afternoon Mort Wickson's wife was spending the afternoon at the Raffingtons. Along in the afternoon she began to feel bad so she lay down and soon had a raging fever. They got the doctor out as soon as possible. She is suffering from complications caused by a colder.

The dogs and coyotes bark all night and we all bark all day.

Cow Hollow has begun to show considerable activity, you can see many fires along in the afternoons and way up into the night. The farmers have begun burning their thistles of which Cow Hollow is well blessed and began to talk about what they are going to plant in this field and that field. This sure sign of spring alright. We saw a neighbor plowing up on the side of the hill this afternoon.

Johnny Hamilton moved his house about a half a quarter last week to what he considers a better location.

"I had Roy Rookstool and his snappy blacks and Russell Howell and his long eared 'Angels' to help me move it," he said, "and we picked it up and moved it and set it down again all in one day. And never cracked the plaster once nor knocked a brick loose from the chimney."

Johnny is quite a humorist. His house is only a 12x12 tar roofed shack and he wouldn't know where to use a brick if he had one.

Jim Trummell has bought himself a dandy two year old colt and now he harness him up and drives him around breaking him. "I'll teach him that life doesn't begin at 40," he says.

Sam Cates now has his corn all gathered and plans soon to have Noah Howard bring his hay chopper over and chop his fodder. He thinks it will make even better feed if chopped.

There is at least two Cow Hollow farmers working on the W.P.A. programs going on in town.

We hear no little discussion, by those that have never been able to get on, about who should get on and who should not be allowed to get on.

We know of some men, with families are about ready to take the paupers oath, who would like to be earning some money too.

Winter Is Over Mabe

We called one evening on Frank Graham. Frank is a new lander but not a Cow Hollowite. Among the various things discussed of course was the weather, and we was somewhat surprised to learn that the winter is over so early.

Frank has a neighbor who is a weather prophet. Two years ago, when Frank first came to his homestead this neighbor told him at Christmas time that they would have a hard winter with lots of snow last year he told Frank we would not see much snow but lots of rain.

Now the other day he tells Frank about finding a lady bug, and angle worm and some other little giggers, he figures this winter is over.

This may be good news to the new landers who have no barns and not too good of houses. But what about the lady bug and all those other little bugs that a mild winter causes for next summer not to mention all the rabbits.

The C.C.C. boys can't poison rabbits when green grass is in the sage brush.

Maybe a good two foot snow and a few six foot snow drifts has its good points after all. We haven't much fear for our water supply but those springs in the hills must be fed if the stock on the range is to have plenty of water and feed.
