and Mrs. John Jarvis almost had the index and middle fingers of her right hand severed when the car door was swung shut in front of the Nyssa theatre Monday night. The accident occurred about 10 o'clock, just after they had seen the first show and had gotten into the car to drive to their home near Nyssa. The child was taken to Dr. J. J. Saradin's office where Dr. K. E. Kerby found the fingers to be badly cut and bones broken. Ether was administered, the fingers sewed back onto the hand and the fracture reduced by Dr. Kerby. He believes the child's fingers will be healed in time and restored to normal use.

He urged the lawmakers to give serious consideration to the demand on the part of the cities for a share in the gas tax funds although expressing it as his opinion that the state highway department needed all of this revenue for its own program for the time being.

Recommendations contained in the governor's message called for amendment of the public utility district law to provide for the issuance of revenue bonds and for contributions by these districts in lieu of taxes now being paid by private utilities; enlargement of the prison annex for the accommodation of the more worthy mature inmates and of youthful first offenders; sale of fortified wines in state liquor stores only; abolition of the state bakery board; readjustment of salaries of county officials on a population basis; readjustment of the terms of appointive officials to prevent packing of state jobs by retiring governors; establishment of some pension system for public employees.

HIGHLIGHTS OF INAUGURAL SPEECH

Ladies and gentlemen of the assembly, and fellow citizens:

In the ceremony you have witnessed I have taken over the reins of government in Oregon from the strong hands of Charles H. Martin who has served as governor through four difficult years. I join with you in paying tribute to his courage and competence, and express the fervent hope that I may prove equal to the contingencies of the next four years.

Economic Problem of Oregon

The first thing needed in this state is a restoration of confidence among business leaders. They have been in such prolonged distress through retardation in trade, labor disputes and new burdens of regulation and taxation that they have become discouraged. The last election should serve as a tonic, proving to them that the world of private business is not coming to an end.

I propose no special concentration of industries and want no "shack-towns" and factory slums.

Forests

This subject is one of pressing importance and under general discussion among the public officials, persons interests in logging and lumbering, and leaders in public life. Some progress toward a solution of the problem has been made, but much more needs to be done and needs to be done speedily.

Agriculture

Largest source of wealth and of income in Oregon is agriculture and its kindred lines: horticulture, livestock and wool growing. On the present. The next meeting will be held on January 24 at Mrs. Ben Thompson's home. Mrs. Dave Hawkins will lead the devotionals.

GUILD SUPPER

About forty-five members of St. Paul's Episcopal Guild and their families attended the pot luck supper held at the Parish hall on Wednesday evening.

Following supper table games and a general social evening were enjoyed. Rev. Stanley Moore of Ontario was an out of town guest.

ATTENDS PARTY

Mrs. Les Ernest and Mrs. John Lackey of Nyssa and Mrs. J. J. Whalen of Payette were among the fifteen relatives and friends who surprised Mrs. Andrew Lackey of Ontario on her birthday anniversary by arriving for a surprise party on Wednesday afternoon.

A delightful lunch was served by the guests and the time was spent in visiting.

BRIDAL SHOWER GIVEN

Miss Ruth Warnock was hostess at her apartment in the Wilson Brothers building Tuesday night at a bridal shower given for Mrs. Nellie Jean Van Scoy. About 18 women were present and showered the recent bride with many pretty and useful gifts. Chinese checkers were played by the guests during the evening. Mrs. Evelyn Thompson winning first prize and Mrs. Eunice Cochran the consolation. Refreshments were served.

whole agriculture has given a good account of itself in this state. Yet it is unfortunately true that returns to the farmer remain inadequate to compensate him fairly for his labor and investment. Here where we produce a wide diversity of products we have not a single farm problem, but many there is no single and simple solution.

Taxation

I come now to the subject of taxation. This is supposed to be the bugaboo of this session of the legislature. It generally is Constitutional restrictions interfere with easy solutions of the revenue problem. The 6 per cent limitation puts brakes on increases in property taxes and the bar to adding the emergency clause to revenue measures forces legislative enactments to run the gamut of the referendum. These restraints are not wholly bay by any means.

My study of the tax question convinces me that it is not so critical as has been advertised. There are three points of pressure: first, demand for lower property taxes; second, demand for additional state aid for public schools; third, demand for larger sums for public assistance.

Old Time Revival—

Old time revival services that are being held at the Nyssa Gospel tabernacle on north Second street are being well attended since its opening night on Sunday last, according to their conductor, Rev. Wm. K. Hoag of Indiana.

Many Species of Lizards

There are 1,700 species of lizards in the world. Only two of these are poisonous and they are found only in Mexico and the United States.

We have just heard the story of the aggressive wife of a meek little man who is being bawled out for having made a fool of himself at a party. They are home and her lecture is on. He sits in dejected silence. "And don't be sitting there," she shouts, "making fists at me in your pockets either." — Brantford Expositor.
