LEGAL ADVISOR FOR LEGISLATURE

The lawmakers will not be lacking for legal advice in the preparation of their bills from now on. The house and senate will each have a lawyer assigned to this task. Two years ago Ralph Moody, then a member of the attorney general's staff was retained for this service to both legislative branches. This year the house voted to again retain Moody but the senate asked the attorney general to assign a deputy to this task. Opponents of Moody in the house made two attempts to reconsider the vote by which his employment was authorized but each time were overruled by substantial majorities.

FAIR APPROPRIATION PASSED

Except for the legislative expense bill the first and only appropriation measure to run the gauntlet of the two legislative branches so far as a bill appropriating an additional $37,000 for the use of the World's Fair commission in establishing and maintaining an agricultural exhibit at the Golden Gate Exposition in San Francisco. Because the fair is scheduled to open in a few weeks and prompt action was necessary if Oregon's exhibit is to be completed on time the appropriation measure was rushed through under suspension of the rules and with but slight opposition.

BARBERS WANT CONTROL BOARD

The barbers want a control board of their own with authority to regulate prices, hours and working conditions similar to that vested in the milk control board. A bill covering this subject is said to strike at cut-rate competition. If the barbers are successful in their program other professions are expected to ask for similar regulations.
