REBEKAHS GIVE PLAY

Nyssa Yellow Rose Rebekah dramatic troupe won a close decision from Ontario Beatrice Rebekah lodge in two clever one-act play contests presented in the Ontario Odd Fellows hall Wednesday night of last week.

The contests were of Malheur county lodges, only two competing, the result being sent by airmail Thursday to the Grand Secretary of the assembly at Eugene.

Nyssa's troupe will compete in Eastern Oregon lodge contests to be held at Baker soon.

"Every Husband," by Louise Wilson Moore, is the title of the play presented by Nyssa. The story is of a women's "up-life" club, the scene being laid around the home of "Mrs. Brown," played by Mrs. John Poage.

Others in the cast with her were Mesdames Owen Gann, Jennie Baker, Angie Cook, Lon Root, Tom Johnson, Ruby Greer and Vernenna Bean.

COW HOLLOW

By The Happy Farmer Last Monday night 17 local farmers gathered at the Frank Parker home to discuss the road proposition in Cow Hollow. Some are in favor of making a new road on the south side of the Hollow. If the road was put there, there would never be any danger of the road washing out.

Of the 12 farmers living below Doc Rabinsons seven of them would have the road at their doorway and five would have about a quarter of a mile to go to the highway. Others say that there could be a road put on the north side of the Hollow at about one third the expense but then seven would have a quarter of a mile to go to the road and most of them would have to have a roadway on another mans place to get to the highway. Others think that with a bulldozer a road could be made on the old right-of-way and be safe from floods at still less expense.

We all signed a petition asking the county court to decide where the road should be and we will be content with their decision.

Six of the Cow Hollow farmers above Doc Rabinsons last week built a road to get out to the mail and school bus road, Noah Howard took his catapillar and Mr. Ditty's road grader and the rest furnished the gas and helped by hand and now they have a line dirt road.

The C.C.C. boys and equipment have been working for a week up on the 18 mile point on the canal. They are concreting a portion of the canal where it was feared last summer that it would go out.

Farming is progressing slowly in Cow Hollow as the bottom and the south side haven't thawed enough to allow plowing.

Bill Parker and Chet Sage have been railing thistles and Chet has covered quite a spot in his bottom land with manure.

We see Russell Howell at work every day with his land eared "angles" but he lives on the north side.

Elza Nicum did two or three days' fresnoing last week. He is on the sunny side of the Hollow too.

Frank Parker is helping E. E. Cloninger prepare ground for early sowing.

Mr. Gibson returned Saturday from an eight days trip to Portland and Hood River. We asked him how things were over there and he answered, "This is the liveliest county you can find."

Sam Cates says "I just don't get any farming done. All I get done is haul water and feed." Sam has a rehabilitation loan and has purchased some more stock so now he faces the water and feed problem too.

The Sunset Valley club will meet with Mrs. Elza Nicum Thursday. The new officers will have charge of the meeting.

Lt. Cloninger took some calves to Ontario Wednesday.
