BUDGET DIRECTOR REALLY DIRECTING

SALEM—David Eccles, state budget director, is wading into his job of controlling public expenditures with a seriousness that threatens to make him decidedly unpopular with some of the tax spenders who have been accustomed to a free hand in their spending heretofore.

The bakery board, destined for dissolution in June, felt the heavy hand of the budget director this week when salary vouchers covering the services of three additional attorneys employed during February and March met with his disapproval. The budget director held that the employment of the lawyer-lobbyists was without authority. While he admits the attorneys should be paid for their services he insists that they be paid by those who retained their services and not by the state or the bakers.

Two members of the state dental board have also had their per diem claims turned back by the budget director as unreasonable.

Eccles has also found it necessary to warn the state system of higher education that future violations of the requirement that all purchases approved by the budget and purchasing departments will result in serious "embarrassment" for somebody. The institutions of higher education, particularly the university, according to Eccles, have repeatedly gone over the heads of the budget director and state purchasing agent in the past.

PRISON BOARD BANS ATTORNEYS

Relatives of prisoners in the state penitentiary are advised by the parole board against the employment of attorneys to represent the prisoners in their plea for liberation. The parole board refuses to listen to attorneys, according to Cecil Edwards, secretary to Governor Sprague.

CHIROPRACTERS NOT ELIGIBLE

Chiropractic physicians are not qualified to examine applicants for marriage licenses under the Oregon law, according to Attorney General Van Winkle who has ruled that these examinations may be made only by a physician or surgeon.

DRUNK DRIVERS NABBED

Thirty-seven drunken drivers arrested by state police during March were sentenced to an aggregate of 1346 days in jail and to pay fines totaling $2561.

UNEMPLOYMENT CHECKS INCREASE

A total of $625,181 was paid out in unemployment compensation to jobless men and women in Oregon during March. This represents an increase of approximately 29 per cent over the payments for February, a report by the commission shows.

NEW PAROLE BOARD

Governor Sprague is expected to announce the personnel of the new parole board this week. Gerald Mason, a member of the present board is expected to be retained on the new board. Others being mentioned in this connection are Dr. Bruce Baxter, president of the Willamette university and Paul Wallace, Salem automobile dealer. Dr. Floyd Utter, a member of the present parole board, is understood to be seeking the job of state parole officer which carries with it a salary of $4000 a year.

PUBLIC WELFARE IS PERMANENT

Public welfare has become a permanent part of government just as much as the school system, according to Elmer Goudy, administrator of the Oregon public welfare commission. While a return of prosperity would materially lighten the relief load it would not eliminate the problem presented by the unemployables, the needy aged and others who are dependent upon others for support.

Some folks call Mr. Throckle a "Stuffed Shirt"

I try to like everybody. But I'll hafta admit Mr. Throckle was kinda stand-offish, at first. He'd just sit back there in the back seat and look sad and important.
I'd talk to the driver, Crimmins. Crimmins wasn't much interested either. One day I've just put eighteen gallons in Mr. Throckle's old gas-eater and over-done myself on the windshield, headlights and so forth.
"Did I ever tell you about our Golden Shell Oil?" I opens up to Mr. Throckle, off-handed.
No answer.
"Well, for stop-an-go drivin', like everybody does today, it takes a mighty fine oil. Has to be fast-flowin' to get circulatin' the second you step on the starter."
Nothing happens. So I go on.
"But, for the beatin' you give an oil in hard drivin', it's got to be tough, see, Mr. Throckle?" If Mr. Throckle sees, he don't show it.
"Now Shell spent a lot of money makin' this oil. But the price is only 25¢ a quart."
Mr. Throckle's eyelids kinda fluttered.
"Crimmins," he says, "we'll use Golden Shell."
"Right, sir," Crimmins says to the windshield.
Then Mr. Throckle gives me a real grin. "Young man, I'll have to take your word on the oil, but I know men and you're doin' all right."
So, quick as a flash I comes back: "Well, I do know oil, Mr. Throckle, and you're doin' all right, too. And thank you, sir."

Sincerely,
Your Shell Dealer
