Things About Nyssa's Shops

Wurra wurra, must be about our chore but tis a vain plea for an idea we have put forth so far. The upper story seems utterly void and there is no food for thought.

Two subs have sunk within the past week and to the outsider each has seemed a needless tragedy. If it had just been managed differently by some one. But by whom and how. No one can say. 'Tis done now and the lives sacrificed will never return to this plane again. And if a mistake there was it can only be rectified now by the doubled surveillance 'gainst another of its kind.

Perhaps some one is to blame and now are sorry for their ignorance, indifference or negligence, and would give much to be able to undo the whole thing from the beginning. But like the rest of the things in life that all of us are sorry for now and then, being sorry can never undo the wrong or right the mistake. And being sorry without action seems but a sop for the ego.

'Tis scarce more than a dash of blue silk should strapped and laced clouted that goes to make the newest of new in bathing suits at the Atkeson clothing emporium. But in truth twill make a sweet miss sweeter and will add a zest to the femme who is a bit short in pulchritudinal attributes. And hast seen those new sweaters? Just the thing for summer wear. Shades as delicate as sky hues at early dawn or brilliant with the new gypsy trend. And low enough in price that a gal may indulge in two or three to wear on that vacation trip to the coast. And hast visited the new shoe shop there since it has found a secluded spot away from the big busy store. 'Tis an unadorned pleasure now to shop for foot gear there. And smart be the new models that one finds to adorn the pedal digits.

'Twas a gay crowd that gathered on Friday night at the Nyssa theatre to see the Alaskan display that the management was putting on there in addition to their regular showing and at no added cost. And a fine show all around.

'Twas an ill wind that arose on Sunday afternoon but not so ill that the ball game could not go on and mayhaps it blew some real good to some one. But if so we have not heard. But tis always a good feeling on a windy day to know that the family manse and all other inflammables have sufficient insurance there on. For should a fire get started ere the hull came odds are that little would be saved. But with a good policy such as one secured at the Nyssa Realty or the Frank Morgan establishment one can be content, wind calm or shine.

But twas a dunking that one needed when they reached their own domicile for the dust didst blow hither and yon and didst cling like a nettle leaf to all it didst touch and only gave way with the application of warm soap suds and elbow grease. And then twas a happy home owner who hast furnished his domicile with an instantaneous hot water heater. With hot water always on tap for any emergency. And the Idaho Power company store can show thee the way to have one of thine own.

Doest thou feel weary all over as if a steam roller had played hop scotch upon thine anatomy and especially the legs of the carcass do ache like a tooth looking for an extractor. 'Tis more than likely that thy shoes need a bit of careful attention. The heels you have all but forgotten are as lop sided as an ice cream cone on the busy end of a small boys mouth and can no longer keep the frame at an even keel. So it is that the muscles pull unevenly and weary in the process. But all this need not be for at the Abbott shoe fixing house they will put a new and upright heel on the old boot while ye wait. And tis a penny wisely spent in keeping shoes in good condition always for their useful lives are long lengthened thereby.

What with the summer days and the possibility of unexpected guests always at hand tis a foolish house wife who does not keep on her shelves an emergency stock of edibles. Canned and packaged goods that remain fresh indefinitely against the day of emergency.

Remember last year when cousin Susie and her tribe arrived from the dust bowl for a "nice long visit" and thou wert aditther as to what to use for food over the week end. Let not the same bee sting thee twice, but hie thee to Mr. Cash's market and there purchase lay away things for at least one unexpected and hasty meal.

And speaking of week end menus twas a tasty lambkin that Butch sold at the Nyssa Packing this last Saturday. The first of the season but as tender and delicious as were those first home grown strawberries we feasted upon such a short time ago.

And if any there be that are doubters still as to the attributes of those fine Purina fowl and animal feeds then by hook or crook get one of those Purina fed broilers that Herschel Thompson has been putting in and stuffing all spring on Purina at the Thompson feed and fuel store, take it home and sizzle it well in the family skillet and ye'll be no doubter again but a ture believer. Particularly if thou wilt let Herschel tell thee how easily and cheaply tis accomplished.

And hast seen that fine glass cooking wear that Wes Browne doest carry at the Baldridge Implement company store. For added summer comfort and lessened summer work it be the tops. So easily cleaned it be and cool to work with. A piece or a set for the summer bride wilt not go unused we trow. Now we be no poultry raiser, neither canst we tell aught of cream other than it be sweet or sour but we do know that chap Wiley Clowers at the Spring Valley cream buying station. and that he is tops when it does come to testing and grading the health giving stuff that goes into butter.

And hast cast thine eyes over the colors enmassed at the Fox out door drive in market north of the Y on the highway. Not only may thou feast thine eyes there but also foods for the material man may be purchased for one or a hundred. It makes no difference. The supply seems everlasting.

And not only does the human anatomy need frequent dunking now that old Sol is taking up his personal abode in this hemisphere again but the family heap wilt be a heap cooler to ride in if washed and greased frequently and at the Powell service station at Second and Main they do have a fine crew especially trained in both a machine to take off the grime from the engine there in that wilt allow it to breath in peace and quiet for a long stretch again.

But when it comes to refuelling the human body in the hot weather tis often a hard task for appetites grow finicky and hard to please. But at the Wilson grocery store one finds new things to act as pepper-uppers. And if it be that the family lacks that winter zest for food try eating lighter foods and less but at more frequent intervals. 'Tis not hard to do once the habit is formed. And if it be a salad that one would make, there be all the fixings at this fine food mart. From the lettuce to whatever dressing it takes to finish it off.

And whilst thou art in the way of the cleaning business forget not that that ist ever the Nyssa Tailors special business. That of cleaning fine clothes till they are as new and renewing the old.

Shop in Nyssa with Journal advertisers and ye wilt not waste your time nor you gas going farther.

Visit In Weiser—Mrs. Ike Barren and daughter, Ida Mae spent Tuesday in Weiser visiting friends.

OWYHEE

Miss Mary Lavona Fletcher daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Fletcher of Payette and Kenneth McDonald of Homedale son of Mrs. Martha Klingback were married by Rev. Robert Schupe of Caldwell, Saturday, May 27. After several days vacation at McCall they returned to Homedale where they will make their home. Mrs. McDonald spent most of her early life in Payette and Homedale but several recent years in California. Mr. McDonald was well known in Nyssa when he graduated from the high school there in 1928, as he was quite prominent in the school athletics. Services were held at the Owyhee school house Sunday afternoon and she was laid at rest in the Owyhee cemetery beside her brother, Lee who died last October. Rev. White of Nyssa conducted the services and the Misses Doris and Margaret Klingback took charge of the singing. The sympathy of the entire community is extended to the bereaved relatives. Mrs. Gladys Culbertson and daughter of Vale and Clarence Rector and three children of Martinez, Cal., were here to attend the funeral.

She was a faithful little Sunday school attendant having a perfect record for the past year. She was loved and respected by a large circle of school mates and friends who are sadly missing her and who will remember her as one who was ready at home or school to take her share of work or responsibility at hand. The following is a poem written by a friend and dedicated to her memory:

Somewhere back of the sunset
Where loveliness never dies,
She lives in a land of glory,
With the blue and gold of the skies.

And we who have known and loved her
Whose passing has brought sad tears,
Will cherish her memory always,
To brighten the drifting years.

Think of her faring on as dear
In the love of there as the love of here,
Think of her still as the same, I say
She is not dead, she is just away
