BOYLES-HIGBY

At a simple and pretty ceremony held at the Nazarene church on Sunday at high noon, Miss Vivian Higby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Higby of Idaho, became the bride of Ralph Boyles, son of Mrs. R. G. Boyles of the Richland district.

Miss June Marie Wilson, presiding at the piano, played as a prelude, "Fifth Nocturn" by Leback, after which Miss Gladys Bratton sang "Oh Promise Me".

As Miss Wilson played the bridal march from Lohengrin, the bridegroom with his brother George as best man, took their places by the wedding arch where the Rev. Vern Martin stood, and were met by the bride and her father, who gave the bride away.

At the close of the ceremony, "At Dawning" was sung by Dwight Wyckoff.

The bride's sister, Mary Jane Higby was her maid of honor and her bridesmaids were Juanita Boyles, sister of the bridegroom and Esther Sweeney, Ushers were Dean Wyckoff and Lloyd Boyles.

The bride wore a gown of white moire taffeta floor length with a bridal veil reaching to her waist, caught up into a coronet with lilies of the valley.

A pink and white archway formed the wedding altar with potted ferns and begonias completing the decorations.

Miss Mary Jane Higby wore an aqua blue net frock.

The bridal party received the congratulations at the door of the church as their guests departed.

Following the church ceremony, the bridal party with relatives and friends attended a reception and dinner given at the home of the bride's parents.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. John Bertey of Portland, Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Higby and Felix with Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Higby of Boise, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henry and Mrs. Maud Henry of Nampa, Archie and Harold Wells of Home-dale, and from Nyssa and the vicinity, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Boyles with Willis, Raphael and Jim, Miss June Marie Wilson, Miss Esther Sweeney, Mr. and Mrs. Don Seward, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Seward and Nadine, Mr. and Mrs. Bernice Gibson, Dwight and Dean Wyckoff, Mr. Marion Shoborn and the Rev. and Mrs. Vern Martin.

Mrs. Boyles is a Nyssa girl, having lived here most of her life, where the family is well known in church and welfare work. Mr. Boyles came with his family three years ago to the new land in the Richland district but has made many friends in the short time.

MORGAN PARK GARDEN CLUB
After enjoying a pot luck dinner held at the E. L. Jamison home in Buena Vista district, the Morgan Park Garden club held its regular business meeting and annual election of officers.

Officers elected included Mrs. Jamison, who was re-elected president; Mrs. I. B. Allen was chosen as secretary and C. H. Bennett, treasurer.

Raymond Nations, leader of Boy Scout troop No. 19, gave a short talk on the aims and ambitions of his troop and of their willingness to aid in the park development.

The club has set aside one acre of their eleven-acre tract which will be given to the troop for their own use and landscaping.

DINNER PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Nielsen entertained at a dinner on Sunday evening at which covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Ed Nielsen, Elver and Lois, and Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Nielsen.

VISITOR HONORED

Complimenting Mrs. Merrit Greening of Mt. Vernon, Washington, who is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Schireman entertained with three tables of bridge and a late supper on Saturday evening.

EASTERN STAR BANQUET

One of the events looked forward to each year by all those who have been fortunate enough to attend one is the annual Washington's birthday banquet tendered by the local Eastern Star to the members of the Masonic Golden Rule lodge and a few visitors.

This year the banquet was held at the Masonic hall on Thursday evening at which about 190 were present.

Worthy Patron Bernard Frost was master of ceremonies and the address of welcome preceding the dinner was given by Worthy Matron Hazel Frost.

The tables were colorful with cut fresh carnations and green leaves interspersed with mounds of toy red balloons and green cardboard leaves.

Following the dinner which was served by a group of the high school set a short program followed.

Much of the credit for the success of the evening is due the chairman and members of the various committees. Chairman of the food committee was Mrs. Dick Tensen; Mrs. Arthur Boydell headed the table service committee; Mrs. Eldon Jensen the table arrangement committee; Mrs. Arthur Norcott the program arrangements and Mrs. Herbert Fisher the decorations.

ENTERTAIN AT SUNDAY DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Fisher and Mrs. Emma Quinby entertained several friends at dinner on Sunday. Their guests included Mr. and Mrs. Harry Salabury of Ontario, Mrs. Emma Galey of Payette and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Castator.

THURSDAY EVENING BRIDGE

Mrs. Willard Hunt was hostess for the Thursday evening bridge club last week and invited Miss Phyllis Doeffler, Mrs. Kenneth Cochran, Mrs. Charles Leuck and Mrs. Melvin Davidson as guests for the evening. High scores were won by Mrs. Cochran and Miss Doeffler.

TUESDAY BRIDGE CLUB

Tuesday bridge club was entertained by Mrs. A. C. Sallee this week and Mrs. E. D. Norcott, Mrs. Heinz Sonnekas, Mrs. Carl Coad and Mrs. J. B. Glezentanner were invited as guest players.

High scores were made by Mrs. George J. Mitchell and Mrs. Sonnekas.

WEDNESDAY EVENING BRIDGE

Mrs. Harry Miner was hostess to the members of the Wednesday evening bridge club and high scores were made by Mrs. Ernest McClure and Mrs. Herbert H. Fisher.

MR. AND MRS. CLUB

The Mr. and Mrs. Club was entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Boydell on Wednesday evening. Following dinner, contract was played at which high scores were made by Burnall Brown and Mrs. A. C. Sallee. Guests for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Sallee.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Following the regular business meeting of the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs at the Legion hall on Tuesday evening a party was given by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fletcher complimenting the seventy-fourth birthday anniversary of N. H. Pinkerton. The Odd Fellows and Rebekahs presented Mr. Pinkerton with a gold watch charm of the order.

COW HOLLOW

Cow Hollow is again covered with a white blanket of snow. It has begun to look as if Earl Heaton will get his wish, that it would rain until we couldn't get into the fields for another three weeks. Well, one week of that time is gone and 'tis a sure thing we won't be in the fields for a while yet.

Jim Trummel had been hauling and scattering his clover chaff on his field with a wagon but he had to give it up. Said that he could hardly get across his field with a team much less a wagon.

Chet Sage went to his father's sale over by Nampa and brought back a dandy manure spreader. 'Tis the first one in the hollow. Since then he has been as busy as a bee hauling manure. He is spreading it on the flat. He hauls it down hill on a road. That's different from hauling up hill and across the field and then the flat is dryer too. The ones on the north side can be farming. They have the sunny slope and a more sandy soil.

George Gabriel now has his fence around his place completed. George has sure "fought a good fight" for to get that fence in. He was out digging post holes with his oercoat on when the ground was frozen four inches deep. But now that it is finished he has a job to be proud of. A three-wire heavy fence with posts every rod apart clean around his place, and the corners well-braced. It is the only fence of its kind in the hollow. George had to choose between a fence or a barn for his stock. He could not build both. He had lots of pasture feed over his place and not enough hay to go through the winter. He said, "If I could have had the place fenced last fall it would have paid for itself the first year."

His neighbors helped on boundary line fences on three sides. So his fence will cost him around $75. He says, "I am going to have the barn next year though."

Our rains are filling the ground so full of water that some of the "seeps" are starting to run again. Elza Niccum dug some holes down to hardpan in a seep that had gone dry and got enough water for his sheep. He is going to dig in another place in hopes of getting enough for his cows, too.

Worthy Patron Bernard Frost was master of ceremonies and the address of welcome preceding the dinner was given by Worthy Matron Hazel Frost.

Us fellows on the south side are storing enough rain water to run us until the canal comes on.

Frank Parker last fall still lacked about 25 acres having all his farming land cleared. He has now railed all of it and the first of the week had all but about six acres had grubbed and expected to be all through by the end of the week.

He has also been entertaining a quite a number of guests lately. Carl Flint of Hood River has been making his home with them for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Loverson, son Barney, two daughters Naomi and Jean and Willard Whitman were dinner guests there Sunday last. Then a birthday surprise party for Mrs. Parker came in the evening. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Loverson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Parker and family, Mr. and Mrs. Duda Parker and family, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Howell and family, Willard Whitman and Glen Hoover.

The little old homesteader house was well filled, but us homesteaders enjoy company just as much if not more than if we were "well fixed" and lived in a mansion.

Mrs. Clarence Niccum has been very poorly for some time. Sunday afternoon Mrs. Thompson and daughter called on her and brought some presents to her kiddies from the Wahine club. Mrs. Thompson is president of the club.

A call like that with greetings certainly leaves fond memories that will surely linger.

Chuck Share brought his wife home for to spend the week-end a week or so ago. She isn't at all strong yet. After she got home Chuck can't get her to go back again. She says, "Cow Hollow is home to me." 'Tis queer how us folks get attached to home and Cow Hollow.

Chet Sage while oiling his pump-jack the other day, got his finger into the wrong place and got it quite badly smashed. Looks like he will lose the nail, all right. Chet says, "Aw, I won't lose any sleep over that. I've been hurt that much before." Maybe so, but each time he bumps it for the next few days, he will be wide awake for a few minutes at least.

A few days ago Elza Niccum came home with a load of hay to find his wife holding two boys, age 12 and 14, by mental strength. Elza has an old Buick car setting down under the hill and across the road from his house. These boys, brothers, had been down to the car the day before and gave it the once over and had come back to get anything of value that they could get off of it.

They had done a pretty good job of quickly wrecking it. Had cut off all the copper lines, torn out all the padding of the upholstery work, broken off all the aluminum that would come off quick and were working on the more tedious stuff when Helen came upon them.

They weren't going to tell her who they were and she wasn't going to let them get away. When Elza got home she had been holding them for about an hour.

The boys broke down and told their story. Elza let them go home and in a day or so went over and talked to their father. Father paid off and Elza let the boys go free.

The big question is: Where to place the blame? And where and when will it stop? These boys had gotten into mischief about six months ago and the county sheriff came out and talked pretty straight to them.

Isn't a builder pretty much responsible for the building he builds? The Happy Farmer is raising six kiddies all under ten years of age today. If he can raise all them to be honest, unselfish, upright and honorable citizens, then he has done his part in this world.

NYSSA HEIGHTS

F. J. Cahill was taken to the Nyssa hospital where he underwent an operation Saturday and was reported doing as well as could be expected. Mrs. John Stafford is staying at the Cahill home.
