COW HOLLOW

We know nothing to tell about this week but that it still rains. The radio says "Fair weather today and tomorrow" and it rains.

The neighbors say "Is it all right to cut hay now, change in the moon tomorrow so it will clear up now." And it rains. All weather signs fail. The desert "dust bowl" has been converted into a nice green "mud hole.

George Gabriel got his hay stacked while we had a few fair days. Although he did have to finish up in the rain.

Chet Sage got most of his hay in the shock. Now it is wet clear to the bottom. He still has some more to cut.

Jim Trummel got his hay in the stack in pretty good shape. It had been rained on a little when first cut but that never hurt it.

This is October and most of the hay in Cow Hollow is to cut yet but we don't know when.

Elza Niccum says "I f I can get a fence around my hay I will just let the cows cut it. That way the rain won't hurt it."

George Gabriel answers, "Yes you can do that all right." Your cows are proof against bloat but if mine even looks at green alfalfa they bloat."

Elza doesn't have much hay and his cows will eat it up before it snows in.

Mrs. Sessions and Bill Parker have gone to the hills after their deer.

Clarence Niccum was mighty pleasantly surprised Monday night when his wife's sister Clara, and her husband, Joe Macarilla drove into his yard. He don't know how long they can stay, but anything helps.

Taking care of five kiddies and sending three of them to school almost requires a woman's hand. His time was up to start the kiddies back to school Wednesday.

Betty Niccum is recovering very nicely.

Your Own Home Is Your Best Investment

To look upon home building as an "expense" is a fallacy.

To begin with, a home of your own is the finest, most dependable and most useful investment you can have. And secondly, a home of your own really costs you NOTHING because it can be built and paid for with the same money you would otherwise waste for rent.

For instance: take the modern, well designed, 2-bedroom home shown here. If you could find such a desirable house you would probably need to pay more than $21 a month to rent it. On the other hand, our Budget Building plan will build it for you at once—your monthly payments include taxes and interest—and in a few years the home is YOUR OWN SUBSTANTIAL INVESTMENT.

Build NOW! Profit ALWAYS! Get details about an easy-to-pay-for home of your own at—
