STATE CAPITOL NEWS

A. L. LINDBECK
State Capitol News BureauSALEM—One-sixth of all property taxes paid in Oregon are contributed by public utilities which this year will pay a total of $6,915,816 toward the support of governmental activities—state, county, city, etc.— according to a report by the state tax commission.Electric utilities will pay $2,699,496 in property taxes this year to top the list, with steam railroads in second place with payments totaling $2,594, 565.More than one-third of the taxes paid by public utilities in this state are collected by Multnomah county which this year will receive $2,744, 390 from this source. Utility taxes to be collected by other counties include: Baker, $168,633; Benton, $53, 340; Clackamas, $417,920; Columbia, $126,633; Coos, $196,485; Douglas, $162,862; Hood River, $104,862; Lane, $271,900; Josephine, $105,400; Malheur, $122,324; Marion, $236,498; Morrow, $77,736; Polk, $51,240; Sherman, $30,954; Umatilla, $192,540; Wasco, $175,649; Washington, $124, 342; Wheeler, $2,400.Construction work on the new treatment hospital at the state hospital for insane will not be started until next fall the Board of Control decided this week after a conference with Dr. J. C. Evans, superintendent of the institution. The board hopes that by delaying construction work on the new building for a few months labor and material prices will have come down from their present high peak to which they have been pushed by the defense program. The recent legislative session appropriated $325,000 for construction of the new building which will be the first of a new group to be located north of the main hospital building.The state prison flax plant is getting ready to handle one of the biggest flax crops in the history of that crop in Oregon, according to L. L. Laws, manager of the prison industry. Present prospects, Law said, are for a better flax crop than last year although a prolonged spell of dry weather could seriously damage the crop.Oregon's 1942 automobile license plates will consist of white letters and numerals on a dark blue background. It was announced this week by Secretary of State, Earl Enell.
This combination verses the one used in 1940 Snell pointed out.Physicians and surgeons who are subject to the military draft are being urged by Lieutenant Colonel Elmer V. Wooten to apply for commissions in the medical corps reserve rather than wait for drafting into regular military service.Industrial payrolls in Oregon for the eight month ending March 1, were the largest in the state's history according to records of the state industrial accident commission. Total industrial payrolls for the eight month period were $118,910,257 compared to previous high record of $110,688,986. An average of 130,649 men were employed during the period at an average daily wage of $4.55, an increase of 14 cents.Four women are included in the list of 98 law school graduates who have applied to the state supreme court for permission to take the state bar examinations July 8 and 9.A total of 111,553 taxable returns were filed with the state tax commission by income tax payers this year, an increase of 17.9 per cent over 1940 returns. Another 57,546 individuals filed returns but paid no taxes. A preliminary check completed by the tax commission indicates that total collections from income taxes this year will exceed those of 1940 by 33.4 per cent. First half payments reported by the commission totalled $6,483,687. The big increase in tax collections is explained as due entirely to improved economic conditions.Without committing itself to any future courses of action the Board of Control as authorized John R. Wald, industrial engineer, to make a survey of employment conditions at the state prison and to submit his results to the board. Wald told the board that automobile license tags are now being manufactured by prison labor in 34 states. Other industries suggested by Wald as suitable for prisons include a paint and soap factory, a tobacco factory and a mattress factory.The Board of Control has accepted the resignation of Dr. W. D. Mc-Nary as superintendent of the eastern Oregon state hospital at Pendleton effective May 1. Dr. McNary, however, will remain with the institution in an advisory capacity until October 1 by which time the board expects to name a new superintendent.
In the meantime Dr. Donald Wair, assistant superintendent, will officially act as acting superintendent.Referendum petitions are now being circulated by the State Retail Grocers association in an effort to place the cigarette tax act on the ballot at the next general election.
Success of the referendum sponsors in filling their petitions by June 13 will mean that the cigarette tax will not become effective until after the voters have approved the measure.State officials have joined owners of other property in protesting against the construction of a service station on property adjoining that occupied by the capitol group.
The protest is in line with a resolution adopted by the legislature at its 1939 session opposing the location of any business buildings in the vicinity of the capitol.
