

Cow Hollow

By The Happy Farmer

Our opening night at the Cow Hollow Club House was a huge success. We had a large crowd and every body had a fine time. Most all were farmers altho there was several out from town. Among them were the Clowers and Stunz. They had a swell time just as though they ere farmers too.

Our music was a bit home-made. We really got a good buy on a piano for ten dollars. And a couple of folks brought their violins and one a guitar. It was really fun to see some of us old farmers, that look too stiff to even make a good hay hand, when that music got to going we would prance around like a young colt.

Doc Roffington, who is close in the neighborhood of seventy, told us some time ago that he was just as young as the youngest man in Cow Hollow. He had worked harder on the financing end of this building than anyone out here. At the community gathering the other night everyone as agreed that Old Doc was the youngest man there all right. On the young man there could he swing them.

Ed Jamison hands has been on the farm a bit too long to be the musicians that they once was. But he got them limbered up on the Piano and even on the guitar and did right start with them. And Goodell is not only a hog caller. He makes a fine auctioneer. Especially when it comes to selling those purty boxes.

The contest for the most popular girl was a close and heated contest with Alta Loma Howell carrying off highest honors. The high point as the contest between Arch Eastman and Russel Howell to see who was the ugliest man. Arch best him a nickle but Russel made him earn his cake and the roars of laughter almost raised the roof.

Well the Spirit was running high. Everybody had a swell time and the social paid better than fifty dollars on the lumber debt.

Us community correspondents has hard time finding anything to write so when a neighbor hands us news items we appreciate it. The other day a neighbor lady handed me a slip of paper with the following item.

"Elza Niccum and family made a trip to Parma Saturday with a bag of wool for the wool pool."

While there he met the hog and lamb shipper Clint Allen and was talking to him when Buford Kuhns, their county agent walked up to speak to him. Mr. Allen as going to introduce him, when they found out they knew each other.

Mr. Kuhns was Elza's seventh grade teacher. He had also knew Fred La Shouse who was with Elza.

Roy Mannley had the misfortune to loose a valuable horse when a so called gentle bull gored it.

We considered Buford Kuhns one of our best friends. He grew up an orphan boy in South Missouri came to Idaho and taught the country school at Amsterdam one year and went to Moscow, Idaho, for to go to the agriculture school. The next we heard of him, he is now County Agent at Caldwell.

The magazines are full of the advertisements of correspondent schools. They show us how we elbow our way around among each other in this crowded world trying to eak out a living for ourselves and our loved ones. They try to show us how we could so easily climb the ladder to success with their help. And magnify the fact "There is plenty room at the top." How we envy the young man with the white shirt and the big smile so early going hand over hand up the ladder with sparkling success just up at the top of the ladder.

Sometimes as we are working (and day dreaming) the scene shifts and we see a tall greased pole. Tall, it goes up, up, and up. So tall that when the man is up to it endeavoring to climb he can see no top. It just goes on up. Many a slippery spot on that pole.

The All-American football star did he go easily step by step up the ladder or did he dig in, fight the pole inch by inch and overcome many a slick spot.

When you slip and slide back 3-ways you take off some of the grease perhaps it won't be so slick up to that point next time.

We wonder what Shirley Temple, Harry Bridges, Jack Benny, Henry Ford or even Adolph Hitler thinks.

Is it a friendly ladder. Feet firmly planted and your hand on the next rung.

A short while back we thought F. D. R. was just at the top and about ready to be retired in that easy chair of "Accomplished Success," but oh! no! Now we think he looks on up the pole and sees more slippery spots ahead.

Climbing the greased pole is a great sport.

Oh, yes, back to earth again and the gentle bull. Roy said the bull had never showed any signs of being bad at all. The horse was a fine three year old. Just about ready to be put in the harness and Roy needed her badly. The bull was just a young half grown bull. But he had horns and no bull is perfectly safe and especially beware of his horns. Arch Eastman came over Monday he and Roy deborned the bull and put a ring in his nose.

Pete Cloninger left Wednesday morning for Corvallis to attend a four day school there. He won a scholarship in his Future Farmer work and gets all his expenses paid on the trip.

When Lieutenant Cloninger was in charge of the Nyssa C. C. Camp he caught the Pioneer spirit and thought he wanted to be a farmer so he filed on a homestead out here. Pete was just a little sprout then. Very small to his age then and the only boy. We recall hearing Cloninger say, "I want to make a farmer of Pete."

Pete knew about as much about farm life then as we do of life in New York City. Cloninger has learned a whole lot about farm life himself since those days. He certainly has did a thorough job of making a farmer of Pete altho we fear he has repented of it some. Pete is a farmer for life now and here is hoping he keeps climbing and wins many a leadership.

At the box supper the other night a party of six arrived about one o'clock from Hood River. They were friends and relatives of the Parkers. Including Frank, Dude and Bill's mother.

They arrived about midnight at Frank's and finding no one at home they recalled having heard of the box supper so came on over.

WOMEN... AND ARITHMETIC

WHICH are really better at household arithmetic—men or women? Let's look at the question in terms of insurance.

What woman would carry only $1,000 in fire insurance on furniture, clothing, etc., when it would cost several times as much to replace them? What woman does not know what a financial burden would fall on her if her husband were injured in an accident? Yet many a man overlooks these vital needs.

So here's a practical suggestion to husbands and wives. Don't guess about insurance... consult this agency for expert advice on which policies to buy—how much—and what to do in event of loss.

I WON'T WASH MY EARS ANYMORE

There's rebellion in the air! Want to know where? It's in the home that doesn't have automatic hot water service! And no wonder—who wants to get up in the morning and wash their ears in ice-water? For that matter, who wants to get up in the morning and light the water heater, or fire the furnace, in order to get some hot water?

When you install an automatic electric water heater in your home you avoid all this and bring yourself the comforts and joys of a constant supply of piping hot water, always on hand, day and night. Install one in your home now. Little Willie will be glad to wash his ears if you do! See your nearest electric dealer for complete details.
