DEFENSE

Published through the co-operation of the Nyssa Gate City Journal, The National Editorial Association, Defense Advisory Committee and The Office of Government Reports

President Roosevelt and Britain's Prime Minister Churchill held a series of secret conferences at sea and jointly issued a declaration of national policies calling for:
No territorial "aggrandizement," no territorial changes not in accord with the will of the people concerned, right of all peoples to choose their form of government equal to operation for improved living standards, safety to all nations within ed for prosperity, international cooperation, freedom of the seas, disarmament and other measures to lighten "the crushing burden" of armaments.

the plan of this government, when the tides of barbarity shall be rolled back, to turn the full measure of its economic strength to bringing help, relief and sustenance to the many countries now cold (and) hungry.
Production
OPM Director Knudsen, speaking in New York, said that by next July defense production will be at its peak and "after that America can write its own ticket on war material and it can be twice anybody else's ticket." To do this, however, small communities and manufacturers must be willing to band together to seek defense work, he said.

Assistant Secretary of State Berle, speaking in Washington, said "it is

The Senate committee investigating the defense program issued a report stating that costs of the Army's $1,000,000,000 camp construction program were "unduly and unnecessarily high" because of lack of planning. War Under Secretary Patterson replied that despite cold weather, labor and material shortages and other "almost insurmountable difficulties" the camps were ready before the time set for troop arrival and the American Army "is now the best housed Army in the world."

Economic Defense
The Economic Defense Board, composed of Vice-President Wallace and ranking Cabinet officers, met for the first time and outlined two undisclosed projects to coordinate and strengthen the nation's economic defense. The National Resources Planning Board issued a booklet, "After Defense—What?," calling upon public and private agencies to start immediate planning to prevent chaos after the emergency. The Board stated that if adequate post-defense employment plans were not ready and another depression allowed to set in, the nation could lose everything it is now striving to defend.

Prices and priorities The OPACS set ceiling prices three and one-half cents a pound on raw sugar, duty paid at New York, three-tenths of a cent under AUG.
11 prices, and advised consumers not to pay more than present retail prices under any circumstances.
Ceiling prices on rayon will be set shortly, the agency said.

OPM placed under full priority control, asked all pig-iron producers to set aside two percent of September output, and prohibited further manufacture of white wall auto tires to conserve rubber and zinc.

Labor
A WPA survey showed unemployment declined 300,000 in July to 5,600,000—nearly 4,000,000 less than last July. The Bureau of Employment Security reported job placements of persons under 21 years increased 78 percent in the past year.
The Bureau also reported placements of Negroes are 47 percent higher than six months ago. The Committee on Fair Employment Practice announced Army, Navy and Maritime Commission contracts now contain clauses prohibiting hiring discrimination because of race, creed, color or national origin.

The War Department announced defense strikes increased from 24 involving 14,000 workers last week, to 28 strikes involving 21,700 men as of August 15. The U. S. Conciliation Service settled 26 disputes. Acting Navy Secretary Bard said the strike at the Federal Shipbuilding Company, Kearney, N. J., causes a daily loss of more than 200,000 man-hours of work on vitally needed combat ships.

The President suspended the eight-hour day for mechanics and laborers of the War Department working on airfields, troop housing and similar projects in order to rush completion.

Inflation Control
The President gave the Government of the Federal Reserve System control over installment buying to prevent a volume of easy credit to consumers so large it would cause inflation by increasing the demand for goods at a time the supply is growing less. The governors announced regulations regarding down-payments, length of loans and types of credit would restrict installment buying of autos, refrigerators, washing machines, vacuum cleaners and other durable goods but would not effect charge accounts at grocery and department stores.

Oil
Defense Petroleum Coordinator Ickes said the first full week of the 7-to-7 "curfew" for 100,000 East coast gas stations showed virtually 100 percent cooperation with little employment loss but sales in the Eastern States were 13 percent higher than this time last year. He said "rigid steps" will have to be taken to restrict gasoline sales.

Licenses Plate Metal
The OPACS requested State motor vehicle officials to require motorists to hand in their 1941 license plates when they get 1942 tags. The OPACS arranged for metal for the new tags because time was too short to seek substitutes but stated no sheet metal will be available for 1943 tags.

Kingman Kolony
