SALEM, OR., June 18—Governor Sprague struck out this week in no uncertain terms at public ownership advocates who are attempting to force their program onto unwilling communities under the cloak of the war emergency.

In a letter to B. H. Kizer, regional chairman of the national resources planning board at Spokane, the governor expressed his opposition to all of the Columbia river power authority bills now pending before Congress.

Notice of Annual Election

Union High School District No. 5.

Notice is hereby given that the Annual Election of Union High School District No. 5, Malheur County, Oregon has been called and will be held at the school house of Union High School District No. 5, in Nyssa, Oregon on the 22nd day of June, 1942, between the hours of 2:00 P.M. and 7:00 P.M., when the polls shall be closed, for the election of one director for a term of five years.

By order of the Board of Directors.

Ward Wieneke, Clerk

Declaring that in his opinion there was no war time emergency making immediate action on a power authority necessary the governor urged that "such controversial questions as public ownerships" be postponed for post-war decision.

The governor also expressed himself as opposed to vesting broad powers in a regional federal authority. "This would establish a super-government, extra-constitutional in character, of uncertain status, which would further complicate the relations between the states and the federal government," the governor pointed out. "These regional authorities offer convenient vehicles for wielding vast economic and political power, responsible to no definite constituency."

Threatened friction between the national and states civilian defense councils is believed to have been eliminated at a meeting in Washington, D. C., this week attended by Jerrold Owen, Oregon civilian defense coordinator. Attempts by the federal bureaucrats to dictate state defense policies under threat to move in an take over the direction of civilian defense efforts themselves met with immediate and vigorous protest from state officials resulting in the call by National Director. A telegram received from Owen by his staff indicates that he was able to convince Landis that the setup in this state was entirely adequate to cope with the problem of civilian defense without federal interference.

Sponsors of a proposed Portland peoples utility district must start from scratch again in their efforts to place the issue before the voters of that city. Attorney General Van Winkle has ruled that the promoters of this project slept on their rights after filing their preliminary petitions and failed to complete their call for an election within the time provided by the law.

A. F. Harvey, head of the motor transport division of the Oregon public utilities commission, has been appointed by the Interstate Commerce Commission as a member of a board to represent the several states in the administration of the interstate commerce act. Harvey has been with the Oregon commission for the past 16 years.

In spite of automobile and tire rationing there are more cars in Oregon today than there were a year ago. Figures released this week by Secretary of State Snell show that there are 394,511 motor vehicles registered in Oregon as of June 1, an increase of 227 over the figures for the same period last year.

HE WHO "steps up" ALSO SERVES

UNION PACIFIC is doing its share to meet the nation's vital need for dependable transportation. It's a job we're proud to do. Over "the strategic middle route" connecting East with West, our gigantic locomotives are hauling not only war materials but also thousands of Uncle Sam's men in uniform.

Thus, it is apparent that travelers may not always find it possible to obtain their preferred accommodations. Perhaps only coach seats or upper berths will be available. To Union Pacific patrons, whom we have had the pleasure of serving and will continue to serve to the best of our ability, we would like to say "he who steps up also serves" and express our thanks for their cooperation.
