STATE CAPITAL NEWS

A. L. LINDBECK

SALEM, OR.—A state school fund apportionment on either a teacher or days' attendance basis would work a serious hardship on the sparsely settled counties of central and eastern Oregon according to opponents of this plan. While the unfairness of such an equalization plan would not be so evident as long as it was financed out of income tax revenues it would become immediately evident upon a return to a levy against property for support of such a fund, it is pointed out.

For example a state levy against property would take nearly four times as much money out of Sherman county as that county would receive back on the basis of actual days attendance. Gilliam and Jefferson counties would contribute approximately three times as much a fund, if financed by a property levy as they would receive back in the form of an equalization subsidy on the basis of actual days' attendance. Other counties which would stand to lose money under such a plan include Douglas, Grant, Barney, Lake, Morrow, Multnomah, Tillamook, Umatilla, Walla and Wasco.

On the other hand the proposed equalization plan would work to the advantage to the more populous and more prosperous counties of the Willamette valley, the lower Columbia river section and southern out of the proposed state fund Oregon most of which would take substantially more than they would put into it through a levy against property.

Automobile and tire rationing is beginning to be reflected in the registration figures. Secretary of State Snell reports that there were 6,300 fewer passenger cars registered in Oregon during the first half of this year than for the same period in 1941. Registration of trucks, however, show an increase of approximately 800 accounting for a substantial increase in the grand total of motor vehicle registration fees. Gasoline consumption also shows a sharp decline, dropping from 134,524,451 gallons for the first six months of 1941 to 127,257,071 gallons in the corresponding period of this year, a decline of 5.4 percent for the six month period with June consumption figures nine percent under those for June, 1941.
