Baker south of Ontario needs a large truck, for all goods shipped in comes via parcel post. The contractor's present Ford is too small. Rep. Walter Pierce went to the priorities board to see about the contractor being authorized to buy

"With Your Hair Cut Just as Short as . . ."

That World War I tune could be the theme song for these West Coast Air Corps Training Center Aviation Cadets who have pledged to close-crop their heads until Uncle Sam wallops the Japs. They call themselves the "Bald Eagle" squadron. These boys mean business and Cadet William J. Gill of Phoenix, Ariz., is shown here recruiting William D. Derr of Minneapolis, Minn. Assisting in the recruiting are three other young flying students, who along with the other two cadets, will be part of America's fighting air armada before many months have passed. But Uncle Sam needs more pilots, bombardiers and navigators, so apply now at your nearest Army Recruiting Office or any flying school in the West Coast Air Corps Training Center. WCACTC PHOTO
