A FREE PRESS AND A FREE PEOPLE AN UNBEATABLE TEAM!

By Dean Kenneth E. Olson
Medill School of Journalism
Northwestern University

The Italian People had no heart for this war. They were dragged into it by a ruthless, ambitious dictator. But to bend the nation to his will this dictator first had to take* from his people their most precious right—a free press. As early as 1922 Mussolini began destroying newspapers which dared oppose him. By 1925 his control of the Italian press was complete.

Italians probably did not realize what they had lost. But soon they found that all their other individual rights were dependant upon this right. Once the press, representing the voice of the people against government oppression, had been stilled they found that freedom of speech, freedom of assembly, all personal liberties had gone with that key freedom. Now they were lied to, browbeaten, made slaves of a dictatorial state. Today in abject defeat, their country torn in battle between their oppressors and their deliverers, Italians are probably the unhappiest people in the world.

To most Americans this right of a free press is something we just take for granted. We "cuss" our newspapers as we "cuss" the weather and figure that freedom of press is just something that publishers rant about.

But freedom of the press is not a special privilege bestowed as a divine right on American publishers. They are but the trustees of a right that belongs to the whole people—the right of every American to know of those happenings which may affect his welfare.

Our founding fathers had had bitter experience with a tyrannical government rule which suppressed colonial papers that dared speak for the people. They knew that their new experiment in democracy could succeed only if there was a free press which could inform the people and warn them whenever their rights were threatened. And they wrote that right into the constitution as an inalienable right of the American people.

For 160 years this free American press printing facts and reflecting the thinking of the people, daring to oppose government leaders wherever necessary has given the American people the information which has enabled them to act in their best interests.

The purpose of National Newspaper Week is not to laud the American press but to stop for this once each year to reflect on this right which has enabled our democracy to endure and which has made our nation great and strong.

Today the American people know more of what is going on in their own country and on every battle front than do the people of any other nation. And they are strong in that knowledge for they know what they are fighting for. A free press and a free people are an unbeatable team.

LAND GIVEN FOR BULLY CREEK DAM

Vale, Sept. 30 (Special)—H. R. Dunlap, Ed Hendrix and Richard Galloway have donated sufficient land for the site of the Bully creek dam, Superintendent C. C. Ketchum revealed. By their action in donating the site for the dam—about 65 acres—two or three months have been saved and an earlier start on construction has been assured. Mr. Ketchum said.

Land for the reservoir site itself will be purchased after a board of appraisal has inspected it. Funds will have to be appropriated by congress for the purchase and the construction of the dam are to be included in a special deficiency bill to be introduced soon in the house, just as soon as presidential approval is forthcoming. This is a matter of form and is expected in a few days.

The reservoir will extend up Bully creek about 3 1/2 miles and will be about 3-4 of a mile wide. It is expected that the reservoir will make good trout fishing available less than 10 miles from Vale.

The reservoir covers land now owned largely by R. Galloway and Herman and James Jordan.

WOOL CLOTHING TO BE AVAILABLE

Dressing well in wartime won't be quite as much of a problem this fall and winter as last, thanks to some orders from WPB, states Lucy FOR SALE—Have you bought your apples? See Adv. on page 5.

R. Lane, clothing and textiles specialist at Oregon State college.

Several million woolen and worsted garments and blankets will be released to civilians this winter as a result of a program arrived at by WPB and the war department—that is, reducing by 50 per cent army procurements of some of the principal worsted and woolen products during the last four months of this year.

Some slides fasteners will also be made due to a recent WPB order which permits the resumption of their manufacture from distressed stocks of carbon steel.

Moreover, women's and girls', children's and toddlers' fall and winter dresses and suits, coats, blouses, and other outer clothing will cost no more than last fall, and in some cases less. This is in accordance with an OPA order, says Miss Lane.

There'll be more shoes for civilians, too. WPB has permitted a 25 per cent increase in output of shoes for boys, misses and children, and infants, as well as greater production of men's work shoes. WPB is also following tests made by the national bureau of standards on two sole-treatment oil compounds designed to lengthen wearing quality of shoes.

A meeting of officers and men in charge of navy recruiting offices and departments throughout eastern Washington, Oregon, and the Idaho panhandle was held in Walla Walla to discuss various voluntary enlistment policies and procedures. GREEN GUARDS' CONTEST ENDING

All members of the Oregon Green Guard are urged to send in their completed manuals and service records to Keep Oregon Green headquarters, Salem, before October 10.

The contest for the 167 prizes is to be judged on the basis of summer services performed, new members enrolled, and on an essay written on the subject, "Why We Keep Oregon Green".

The association is interested in knowing of the services performed by the Green Guards in the fire prevention campaign. Many members have a very good chance for a prize for their services alone. The essay is required for only the first two groups of prizes, and was added to help those people who have not found the opportunity to perform some outstanding fete.

Is the greatest Saboteur going today. The greatest machine in the world for preventing fires is your head.

Smoking—Smoking in bed is extremely dangerous. If you must smoke—get up.
Chimney—Cracks in chimney are a good place for sparks to escape and start fire.
Roofs—Old curly shingles make an ideal place for sparks to start a fire.
