A $50 WAR BOND EACH WEEK FROM A $60 SALARY!

"What good will money be if we lose the war?" asks Razook

TEDDY RAZOOK is helping build that bridge of ships America needs for Victory. He is also helping pay for them. Every week he buys a $50 War Bond. "I figure it this way," he says. "I'm single, 22, and make $60 a week. If I put $37.50 into a Bond, I still have more than 20 bucks. For a single fellow, that's plenty. I've been draft-deferred as an essential war worker—AND I figure the least I can do is loan every cent I can spare to carry on this war. And on top of that, I get $4 back for every $3!"

Razook went to work in the shipyards after closing up his gas station for lack of business. He plans to return to the gas station after the war, meanwhile continuing his purchase of War Bonds.

Perhaps, like Teddy Razook, you, too, are fighting on the Bond front. But are you making it the best fight you can? Boost your Bond buying through the Pay-Roll Savings Plan right now . . . today!

You've done your bit—now do your best!

FUNDS AVAILABLE FOR FARM HELP

Family-type, small and part-time farmers unable to place their operations on a sound basis through other credit sources can secure counsel and assistance through farm security administration programs, reports N. L. Williams, district FSA Supervisor, Wilson building, Ontario. Funds for another year were appropriated by congress to support war food production and operation of family-sized and smaller farms.

FSA services include farm management and loan assistance to help bring smaller farms up to full production capacity through providing needed livestock, machinery, feed and seed, building repairs, smaller water facilities and other essentials to efficient operation, explained Williams. Loans are limited to $25-00, repayable up to five years and bear five per cent interest. Farmers eligible must be resident operators of family-type or smaller farms, or have a background of farm experience and show inability to finance sound operations from regular commercial credit sources. Practical farm and home plans are worked out by the farmer with the help of the supervisor and a county committee of resident farmers. Farm tenure is expected to cover the loan repayment period.

Loan application forms and information may be obtained at the county FSA office, Ontario, or from the following county FSA committees: Jess Rich, Ontario; Eric Parker, Vale; Frank Morgan, Nyssa and David E. Mitchell, route 1, Nyssa. Completed applications are reviewed by the county committee and approved when they are practical, help war food production and make for sound farming operations. Special consideration will be given applications of returned war veterans with farm background.
