

Washington, D. C., Nov. 2--It was the midnight hour when the news came that Gen. Douglas MacArthur had landed in the Philippines. Washington has developed into a night as well as a day city, with cocktail lounges scattered everywhere, and the news spread with lightning-like rapidity. What had occurred was a foretaste of what can be expected when the Germans surrender. If the lid was not off it was at least raised a few inches. Lights popped up in the White House and across the street in the somber building which houses the state department. There was sufficient whoopee in the streets to be reminiscent of a New Year's eve, and as for the newspaper offices things boiled, for the communique came so late that front pages had to be torn open and remade.

General MacArthur has many admirers in this town (outside of army circles) and he is remembered for the two years he was chief of staff. He is also remembered for appearing in full-dress uniform when he called out the troops to quell the disturbances created by the "bonus army," and some of the veterans were used rather roughly. There were literally thousands of veterans packed around the steps of the capitol building and filling the plaza between the senate and house office buildings.

General MacArthur is a showman as well as a brilliant strategist

(some say the best strategist ever graduated from West Point), and that he headed the amphibian force that landed on the island of Leyte, after his well-advertised declaration when he escaped from Corregidor with his wife, child, servant and a few Filipino officials, that "I will return," was to be expected. The original announcement came direct from MacArthur's headquarters and not from one of the naval battlewagons nor the fleet of supply ships. Release of the news was made personally by the general.

Landing in the Philippines is only the first step. There will be many battles in the weeks to come before the Americans have retaken Manila and disposed of the Japanese on the island of Luzon. There are thousands of islands in the archipelago, with Jap troops guarding everyone. The Philippines adventure is far from being the end of the war. There is yet to be accomplished the task of taking beachheads on the coast of China and the capture and possession of Formosa before attack can be concentrated on the homeland of the Japanese. All these movements require time, men, unlimited supplies and patience.

In a broadcast from radio Tokyo, heard immediately after the MacArthur communique, the speaker said that damage to the installations at Formosa had "taught the Japanese a lesson," and this was followed by the broadcasting of an American record of a popular song. The Tokyo broadcast came over the waters of the Pacific more distinctly than did the communique from MacArthur's headquarters.

Well, it was a great night in the national capital, in the National Press club and in the Army and Navy club.

If all goes according to present program, the courts martial of General Short and Admiral Kimmel will be ordered in about three weeks. The latest scouting commission, assembling data, has returned to Washington and has submitted its report, but nothing will be done until after the election November 7.

One reason given for holding the report secret is that the administration does not want Pearl Harbor to be injected before the close of the campaign and divert attention of the voters from the more important issues of the election.

There is still the mystery of why, after the state department had been warned of an imminent attack on Pearl Harbor, the message from the department was not delivered to the commanding officers--Kimmel and Short--until after the Japanese had opened their assault. This is only one of several peculiar things that occurred immediately prior to the attack and which have never been cleared up or explained, such as why, when a warship reported having sunk an enemy submarine off the harbor half an hour before the attack, nothing was done.

The court martial is expected to disclose who was responsible for the fleet being gathered in Pearl Harbor where the vessels were shot like so many sitting ducks. Perhaps the merchants of Honolulu had protested against keeping the fleet at sea instead of having the crews and officers--potential customers--in the city. At all events, the courts martial promise to make revelations rumors of which have been quietly discussed by navy men ever since the attack.

Who Is Fighting Dewey?

- NO. 1. Earl Browder, former Communistic candidate for the Presidency.
- NO. 2. James W. Ford, three times candidate for the Vice Presidency on Communistic ticket.
- NO. 3. Sidney Hillman, labor racketeer and head of P.A.C. and a white house favorite.
- NO. 4. Political job holders who have fattened off taxpayers' money during the New Deal.
- NO. 5. Hogue, Hannegan, Kelly and Flynn, bosses of corrupt political machines.

Why Are They Fighting Dewey?

Because he has denounced communistic trends and propaganda. Because Dewey will clean the grafters and crooks out of Washington as he did out of New York.

Because (we are quoting Stanley High, former high ranking man in the Roosevelt administration)

"They fear him because they see in him the determination of millions of Americans, after a long period of wilderness wandering, to go up and possess the land. It is not Dewey, personally, that they are afraid of, but, rather, what would happen to their plans if Tom Dewey's kind of U.S.A. ever got going."

They have lines into the white house and backing in the cabinet and the supreme court. They have a law-making and law-defeating lobby on Capitol hill. This year, with an immense slush fund and a presidential green light, they aim to extend that power to the nation."

Because of Dewey's pledge to the American People:

"To Americans of every party: I pledge that on January 20th next year our government will again have a cabinet of the ablest men and women in America."

"To Americans of every party, I pledge a campaign dedicated to one end above all others, that this nation under God may continue in the years ahead a free nation of free men."

"We shall return to the ways of common honesty. A people of integrity will insist on a government of integrity."

"I deny that the American people are finished. America is at the morning of her destiny."

Mr. Paul Mallon, noted political observer writes this week:

"A Dewey victory would bring a new kind of government with an affirmative program likely to be carried through. It would bring a reform government and signify a return of one party management of national affairs."

DEWEY WILL GIVE FARMERS A SQUARE DEAL. READ THIS SUMMARY OF HIS FARM PROGRAM:
 "The wide fluctuation of prices of farm products following the last war will not be tolerated. A floor will be placed and maintained under farm prices with assurance of seal-up crop loans. A proper farm program will be created and so operated that the farmers will have control and operation of their program without domination or dictation of appointed bureaucrats."
