near Berchtesgaden on May 6 when the "cease fire" order was given and after a short stay near Heidelberg, Germany, went to Camp Lucky Strike near LaHavre, France, and on May 29 sailed for home. After 30-day furloughs and leaves in their homes—which are in all of the 48 states—they are reporting to Chaffee for additional training.

The organization was activated June 1, 1943 at Fort Bliss Texas, as the 42nd Anti-aircraft automatic weapons battalion and continued their training at Fort Bliss, Texas, Camp Rucker, Ala., and Camp Stewart, Ga. They went overseas in May 1943, landing in North Africa after that campaign had closed. They remained to furnish anti-aircraft protection to such ports as Algiers, Oran, Arzek, and Mostaganem. In mid-July they moved into Italy, training near Leghorn. On August 5, 1944, they were deactivated as the 42nd, and activated under their present numbered unit, Lt. Col. Dixon, who had been executive officer, then became unit commander.

Sgt. Charles E. "Jack" Sweeney arrived in Nyssa Wednesday to visit his wife and baby. Sgt. Sweeney has just returned from 20 months duty overseas. He is a son-in-law of Mr and Mrs. Ralph Curry.

OUR BOYS
Aboard the U. S. S. Chicago in Tokyo Bay—Harold H. Rookstool, petty officer, 2/c, husband of Mrs. June Rookstool, Rt. 2, Nyssa, and son of Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Rookstool, also of Rt. 2, Nyssa, is serving aboard this cruiser, which is part of the powerful fleet in the Pacific helping with the occupation of Japan's navy bases.

Under the operational control of Admiral Halsey's 3rd fleet, the Chicago has been in Japanese waters since early in February along with other cruisers, aircraft carriers, battleships, and escort carriers. Now they are taking over the enemy navy bases.

Sgt. Claude J. Rookstool, son of B. P. Rookstool, has been sent to Sioux Falls, South Dakota. Yet no assignment has been given and he is only waiting for further orders. Everyone is idle and thousands more are entering the camp every day he said.

ANTI-INFLATION LIST AVAILABLE
Housewives may secure their "anti-inflation shopping lists" now at the local war price and rationing board office, announced Bernard Frost, board chairman, today. The lists are an aid in preventing food price increases and are also designed to make shoppers more conscious of legal ceiling prices on cost of living items he said.

Mr. Frost pointed out that prices rose twice as fast after the end of the first world war as they did during the actual fighting. "A five pound sack of potatoes increased only three and one half cents during the war but rose an additional 35 cents in the year and eight months following the Armistice," he said. "These same factors that start the traditional and dangerous inflationary spiral are with us again. We are trying to control this price rise in food, shelter, services and other items until full production and employment make the release of controls safe. Consumer goods, including many foods, are still scarce. Everyone wants to buy the things he couldn't get during the war and people have money to spend. We are going to do everything in our power to prevent price increases in cost of living items by maintaining price controls as long as they are needed—but not a minute longer."

"We want housewives to write on the "anti-inflation shopping lists" the prices they have actually paid for various kinds of dry groceries and meats over a period of a week. The shopper will send her report to her local board. This will give the price panel a pretty good picture of food price compliance in this area and point out some of the stores that need investigation and help," he explained.

missioned became second lieutenants or flight officers.
Lt. Heldt arrived in Nyssa Saturday for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Heldt.
The flight engineer is the latest addition to the officer ranks of the AAF. He is virtually in control of the plane almost all the time in his role of a master mechanic, aeronautical engineer and the boss of the gas can. Stationed at an instrument panel, which dwarfs that of the B-29 commander, his job enables a Super-fort to carry heavier bomb loads over longer distances, with less gasoline.
Pfc. Isaac Mitchell of Nyssa, Oregon has been awarded the combat infantry badge for outstanding performance of duty and exemplary conduct against the enemy on Okinawa, R. I.
Pfc. Mitchell, a rifleman with the 366th infantry regiment of the 77th (Statue of Liberty) division saw his first action against the enemy on Okinawa.

He was inducted into the army in September, 1944 and received his basic training at Camp Hood, Texas. Pfc. Mitchell joined the 77th division in May, 1945 during the bitter fighting on Okinawa.
Pfc. Mitchell graduated from the Adrian union high school prior to his induction into the army, he was a rancher.
He is authorized to wear the Asiatic-Pacific ribbon with one battle star and the Philippines liberation ribbon in addition to the combat infantry badge.
Camp Chaffe has a new outfit—the 99th chemical mortar, which is assigned to the camp for redeployment training after a long and successful overseas campaign. They are attached to 16th headquarters special troops, fourth army. For the second time they come under the command of Lt. General Alexander Patch commanding general of the fourth army, for while in the European theater they were attached to the 7th army, commanded at that time by General Patch.
A clipping about the battalion was received by Mrs. L. E. Newgen of Sunset valley from Pfc. Wilford Gilbert, a member of the outfit.
With a total of 150 days of combat during their 26 months overseas, the battalion wears the presidential citation, awarded for its assistance in wiping out the Colmar pocket below Strasbourg, and three battle stars for Rome-Arno, the Rhineland, and Central Germany. During the 150 days of combat, 113 of which were consecutive, the battalion was extremely fortunate in losing only five men, and their strength was approximately 673 officers and enlisted men.
Lt. Col. Gordon A. Dixon of St. Anthony, Idaho, is commanding officer of the battalion whose assignment in battle was to give close combat support during battle. Overseas they were assigned to the 7th army and operated with some fourteen different divisions. They were
