U. S. GETTING SENSIBLE

Sec. James F. Byrnes' announcement from the state department that countries under Russian dominance, or others, will receive no more American dollars until they drop their talk of "American dollar imperialism" and change their attitude toward this country indicates that the U. S. government is starting to follow a realistic and sensible policy in our relations with the rest of the world.

The United States has been loading the Christmas tree with expensive toys for the rest of the world for many years and the friendliness has paid off in sweat, death and misery.

Acceptance of our money while attacking our policies does not show good faith on the part of several European as well as Asiatic countries, whose nuts have been pulled out of the fire by a friendly Uncle Sam. These people should be made to realize that they can't bite the hand that is feeding them.

Such double-crossing will not bring peace to the world, but will create more suspicion and threats of war.

This country does not need to follow a "hard boiled" policy, but we should follow a policy of fairness and notify our friends and non-friends that we expect fairness on their part.

NEXT RACE—AND FIRST ONE NOT YET OVER!

Reclamationists Attack Sec. Krug

The statement of J. A. Krug, secretary of the interior, released through the newspapers to the effect that he favors a CVA, is entirely different than his testimony before a senate committee six months ago when he was seeking the job (secretary of the interior), according to a joint statement released by N. V. Sharp, president, and William E. Welsh, secretary-manager of the Idaho State Reclamation association. Both Sharp and Welsh expressed keen disappointment with Krug's announcement endorsing CVA.

The joint statement said in part: "Only six months ago, in March of this year, when Mr. Krug appeared before the senate committee relative to his nomination for the post of secretary of the interior, he was taking an entirely different attitude. At that time, when Krug wanted the job of secretary of the interior, he said:

"I would like not only to have the opportunity to counsel with you (senators), but I want to get into the states where these problems are critical and get the views of the people who have had long experiences with them".

After discussing his feelings relative to the TVA with which he had formerly been associated, he said:

"I don't know the best way for developing the other sections of the country, and I won't know until I have studied in considerable detail the problems which are involved".

"There is some knowledge available on the principal rivers now that I think you have to include as to whether it should be developed as the TVA or in separate programs, and I would consult with people who know to get their point of view as to which would be the best way, from the point of view of the protection of the interests of the people in the area, the rights of the states, and to get the job done and the maximum result."

LOWELL STOCKMAN

Keep Common Sense Representation

Send the man back to Washington who has already chalked up a fine record of work towards the full development of Eastern Oregon's resources and utilization of the Columbia River's potential value. Keep, as your representative, a man who understands the present need for stabilizing the full purchasing power of the dollar, who believes in adequate care and benefits for veterans. Support the man who advocates progressive planning for the construction of necessary irrigation and flood control projects.

Vote for Lowell Stockman, Republican, a proved representative of Oregon's second district for the past two Congressional terms.

tion, which statement had previously been unanimously approved by all those present at the meeting. This statement included the following paragraph:

"The members of the Idaho State Reclamation association are unalterably opposed to the creation of a Columbia valley authority (CVA). (At the annual meeting in Twin Falls, May 17 and 18, after listening to a scheduled discussion by the speakers both for and against authority legislation, the membership, comprising representatives of water users' organizations totaling 1,500,000 acres—two-thirds of the irrigated area of the state—voted unanimously to oppose the creation of a CVA.) "If Mr. Krug wanted to get the views of the people who have had long experience' in these matters, he would do well to heed the advice of the reclamation leaders of this state."

Free Tests Offered To Hard of Hearing

Expert Acoustician Here To Conduct Free Clinic THURSDAY, OCTOBER 31
E. M. Hollenbeck, experienced Acoustician, will be in Nyssa Thursday, October 31 to offer a free clinic and diagnosis to the hard of hearing. Hollenbeck will conduct his clinic at the Owyhee Hotel, 1 p. m. until 8 p. m.

The free clinic and diagnosis will include a demonstration of the new "Hearing-Lenses" featured with Acousticon's "Super-Power" Unipac. Anyone troubled with any degree of deafness is invited to attend. There is absolutely no obligation.

134 Different Adjustments Possible
Hollenbeck will employ the new Acousticon "speech-hearing test" in diagnosing the various conditions of deafness that confront him. "This test," said Hollenbeck, "permits me to make a scientific diagnosis of any person's defective hearing, and through it I am able to determine the proper adjustment and 'focus' of the 'Hearing-Lenses'. These 'lenses' are scientifically fitted in much the same way as a specialist fits glasses to correct a faulty vision. There are 134 different degrees of adjustment possible with the new Unipac so that each person may be fitted individually and scientifically."

Hollenbeck will offer a free demonstration of the "Hearing-Lenses" during his clinic. He pointed out that they are a development of one of the most amazing discoveries made during the war. "Hearing-Lenses" are now available for practical use, having been developed by America's oldest manufacturer of hearing aids, the Acousticon company.

It was emphasized by Hollenbeck that the demonstrations and hearing tests demand no obligation on the part of the people who attend. He also suggested that those unable to come to the Owyhee Hotel may phone him at 114, Nyssa, and that he would provide private appointments in as many individual homes as possible. Adv.
