

"FUN FOR YOU" IS WELL PRESENTED

Tom Brenneman, selected a hat worn by Mrs. Gerrit Stam as the "goofiest" hat in the audience Thursday night. Mrs. Stam smilingly accepted the good-natured affront and also a pair of nylon stockings given as a prize. Mrs. Mary Bybee, the oldest woman in attendance Thursday night, was presented with a corsage and a kiss by Mr. Knettle. Mrs. Naomi Buchart, manager of the Nyssa Nursing home, received a cake as a prize for her role as "the good neighbor" in Nyssa.

Mrs. Campbell won the corsage Wednesday night on the "Brenneman" program for being the oldest lady present and Mrs. Merl Duncan won the hose for having the "goofiest" hat.

Four robust "women" provided part of the feminine appeal during the Brenneman act. Their characterizations were quite convincing until they started to sing. Their names without any feminine prefixes are Ross Roberts, Leo Chard, Ed Mason and Harold Kurtz.

In the grand finale, George Bear, J. B. McKinney and H. F. Simaier, representing "The Spirit of '76", marched onto the stage and took their places on an elevated platform to await the arrival of the other participants. Representing the American Civil war period were Leo Lucy, Richard Mikkelsen and Mrs. Don Graham. Roy Hoff of the army, Ray Williamson of the navy and Miss June Savage of the Red Cross appeared to represent the forces of the first world war. As a nurse, Miss Savage sang "The Rose of No Man's Land". As martial music rent the air, men and women representing the expanded forces of the second world war, Gene Fieshman, Bob Williams, Mrs. H. F. Simaier, Adam Focht, Don Buell and Kay Peterson marched onto the stage, followed by "Columbia", Mrs. Myrtle Bartholoma. A parade of the flags, conducted by the Roxy Rockettes, added impressiveness to the occasion.

Other persons representative of American life were as follows: The butcher, Sid Burbridge; the baker, Dale Bassett; teacher, Dorothy Bassett; home-maker, Mrs. Lyle Fullmer; merchant, Edward Boydell; farmer, Phil Harris; Hollywood chamber, Mrs. Adam Focht; "big business", Grant Lewis; and working men, Leonard Huseby and Mr. Mayden.

After the singing of one verse of "The Star Spangled Banner" by the audience, taps were played by Don Moss on Wednesday night and Gene Fieshman on Thursday night. The veterans' share of the proceeds will be used to help pay the cost of construction of a new veterans memorial building.

From LaGrande—
