HOW ABOUT SOME LIGHT ON THE SUBJECT?

LIGHTING fixtures and lamps are designed to provide adequate artificial light and to beautify the home as well. But empty sockets are not only ugly—they provide no light.

Even more important, are the right size bulbs and the proper position of lamps. Every place to read or work should have its own adequate light. The right light for everybody means brighter eyes, brighter marks in school and a brighter home.

And here are some tips on how, to get the most out of your lighting. Use larger bulbs—they're more economical. For instance, a 100 watt bulb gives 50 per cent more light than four 25 watt bulbs—and costs less. Keep your lamps and fixtures clean, because dust and dirt can deprive you of half the light you pay for.

For new floor and table lamps and fixtures designed to give more light, see your electrical dealer. You can purchase light bulbs from most every retail store.
