PEACE BY FORCE FAILS

Every year at Christmas time preachers and editors strive to find a new angle to the centuries-old theme, "Peace On Earth, Good Will To Men".
 Some years they tell of the joys of peace and other years just hope for peace in a strife-torn world. With the rest of the earth's people they pray for peace and prepare for war.

The only kind of peace man has learned to achieve is the peace gained by force of arms or threat of force. Even the uncivilized people of the world can achieve that kind of peace, at least for a time.

A man truly at peace with himself and his neighbors is most fortunate because he is in tune with the enlightening phases of life.

The ultimate goal of an Omnipotent effective world system must be peace. To achieve that peace we must develop a program of co-operation with our neighbors, based on the teachings of Christ. Apparently that is the Divine plan and if we don't achieve peace by peaceful methods we won't have any permanent peace at all.
