NEWS VIEWS

By Lew Herriman

Too bad Thomas Jefferson and Tom Paine and a few other early Americans can't take a look in on July 4, 1949. It would prove they were as right as a second guess. There were many people in those early days who figured a new nation had about as much chance of surviving as a snowball in the Sahara. And it took men who believed in the future of a free people to trip the scales the right way. We've had the results handed to us on a platter. Sometimes when you get things too easy you put a low value on them. Let's not make that mistake. July 4th should be a day of remembering...and sincere thanks.

The name of Mole Hill, W. Va., was changed to Mountain, W. Va. Sounds as though they have a very optimistic Chamber of Commerce. Don't be too optimistic about that little knock in your motor. It isn't opportunity and it may be big trouble. Bring your car for a complete motor overhaul to HERRIMAN MOTOR CO. Our mechanics and equipment are the best in town.
