HOMEMAKERS TO MEET

Pattern alteration will be the lesson presented to homemakers at the first meeting of the Sunset extension unit at the home of Mrs. Wallace Gregg Wednesday afternoon, October 12.

This lesson on altering patterns to be given by Mrs. Miriam Colford, Malheur county home extension agent. It is of especial interest to all home sewers, as it includes how to choose the correct size, how to alter for definite individual problems.

Equipment needed for the afternoon will be scissors, pencil, ruler, a pattern, and two good measure tapes. Each lady should take her own items to the meeting.

As this lesson will take three hours of work, sponsors hope that all will endeavor to arrive by 1:45 in the afternoon if possible. To reach Mrs. Gregg's home one should drive north from Olie's corner to the second crossroad, east one mile, and then north three-fourth of a mile at the house on the east side.

All ladies who are unable to be present at this first meeting but who are interested in attending the rest of this year's extension lessons should contact Mrs. Gregg, route 2, Nyssa.

The extension unit will meet the second Wednesday of every month during the fall and winter months. All homemakers are invited to attend.

"Johnny's not a lazy boy and he likes his teacher and classmates, but for a long time we couldn't understand why his schoolwork suffered. He hated homework and always complained it made him tired, until we saw the light.

"We redecorated last spring and followed sound advice on good lighting. Johnny has a more comfortable place to study, with more and better light. He doesn't mind homework now and always seems to have plenty of energy. His teacher says he's getting along much better, too.

"Of course, it was our fault. Even my husband and I feel more cheerful, now that the house is brighter and my own chores are done easier and faster.

"I'm very particular now, that every light socket is filled with the right size bulb. There'll be no more shadows and dark corners to strain eyes in our home."
