A short review of the mail-order situation with a single answer to fit all questions.

- Q—Have you ever made up an order amounting to, say, $20.00 counted out the cash, taken the order to one of your own Nyssa merchants, and said: "Here is $20.00; deliver this order of goods in three weeks, I'll pay for delivery"?
- Q—Have you ever written to Catalog House telling them you're a little hard pressed and asking if it will be all right if you settle next payday?
- Q—Have you ever asked a mail order house to contribute a hundred dollars to your pastor's salary or to the building of a new church or hospital?
- Q—Have you ever found out how much tax catalog houses pay in our town?
- Q—Have you ever asked a catalog house to donate valuable prizes to the Ladies' Aid, to a bazaar, or contribute to a local charity?
- Q—Have you ever had a catalog house provide valuable show windows in which to promote some civic enterprise?
- Q—Did you ever hear of a mail order concern paying anything toward our public improvements?
- Q—Did a mail order grocery department ever fill a Nyssa family's market basket when a sad charity case was reported? Or wait indefinitely for its money "until Tom gets back on the job"?

The merchants of our town respectfully suggest that you paste these questions on the cover of your favorite mail order catalog.
