TWO-WAY RADIO PROTECTS YOUR LOW-COST ELECTRIC SERVICE

You never see this invisible guardian — two-way radio — used by Idaho Power to protect the low-cost of electric service. But 24 hours a day it is working for you.

You do see its effect every month in your electric bill. The rates you pay for electric service are among the lowest in the nation—43% below the national average. The fast communications on service calls saves time — and that means saving money for you in your costs for electric service.

Two-way radio comes into use in the speedy repairing of line breaks. It sends service crews rushing directly to trouble spots — prevents duplication of effort, eliminates wasted time, saves dollars.

Just as with Idaho Power's use of radar, aircraft, and developments of other sciences, the result is better and more efficient electric service—at lower than ever rates to you.
