

Hallowe'en Party Held By Youths

APPLE VALLEY, Nov. 2—The Methodist Youth Fellowship of the Community church held a Hallowe'en party in the church basement Monday evening. All the young people of the community were invited, and nearly 30 high school age youth turned out for an evening of fun. Bales of straw were used for seats to add to the atmosphere, along with jack-o-lanterns, corn stalks and other autumn motifs. Refreshments of cookies, fudge, popcorn, apples, punch and cider were served.

The PTA held a Hallowe'en party at the schoolhouse Thursday evening. Although there was not a large crowd of adults, those there enjoyed themselves as did a large group of the children. Access to the room was through a dark winding hallway, with spiders, ghosts and wet rope slapping each one who entered in the face. Then upon parting the curtains, the old man of the mountain was there to greet them. During the evening, bingo was played and a fish pond was open for the young folks. Proceeds from the sale of "hot dogs", pop, pumpkin pie, doughnuts and coffee were sent to the hot lunch fund.
