Know your
OREGON MILK
CONTROL LAW

"Are you telling ME..."

the state dictates WHO may produce milk and HOW MUCH?"

Yes

No farmer can sell milk for home or restaurant use without permission from the Milk Administrator.

Milk Control decides how much milk will be available for your use.

It picks out which—if either—of two neighboring farmers can sell their milk even though both may be equally able to produce wholesome Grade A milk.

If Milk Control permits either of them to produce such milk, it then tells each farmer how much he may provide for your use.

This "quota" system, single control over Oregon's milk supply is called the "quota system."

If a farmer's cows forget this, get out of line and produce more than the quota picked for him, he must take whatever price he can get some other way—such as selling it at much lower prices for cheese, powdered milk, and the like.

Not Oregon's producers, but the State, decides exactly who will produce the milk for our needs and how much each farmer can produce. Such limitations frequently have made it necessary to depend upon the uncontrolled Washington market for enough milk, instead of our own Oregon farmers.

The questions and answers below show some other ways in which Oregon Milk Control affects YOU.

Q. Does Milk Control hold prices up?

A. YES. That is the purpose for which the law was designed. It sets floor prices, not ceiling prices.

Q. Does Milk Control discourage competitive distribution of milk?

A. YES. No one can enter the milk business if the Administrator says such new competition might disturb existing distributors.

Q. Does Milk Control allow you a lower price when you carry milk home yourself?

A. NO. You pay the higher costs of door-to-door delivery whether you use this service or not.

Q. Does Milk Control limit the richness of milk?

A. YES. The richness (butterfat content) of milk sold in each price range is limited by the rulings of the Milk Administrator.

Q. Does the Oregon Milk Control Law regulate sanitary conditions?

A. NO. It has absolutely nothing to do with the sanitation, health inspection, cleanliness, or the purity of milk.
