

1952 Hunting Regulations Announced

Many inquiries have been directed to the Journal regarding the 1952 hunting and game laws, but no information was obtainable until this week.

Following is a digest of the regulations covering the first part of the season for large game and birds. Because of lack of space, the rest of the schedule will be run in the Journal next week.

ANTELOPE SEASONS

Drivers Reminded School Bus Law

Oregon's law requiring motorists to stop for school buses that have stopped to load or unload children will soon call for renewed attention by Oregon drivers, the state traffic safety division reminded today.

Many buses have been transporting farm workers during the summer, an operation to which the stop law does not apply. The division said this fact confuses some motorists who are not aware that stops must be made only when the bus is carrying school children.

When the big yellow vehicles resume regular school runs early next month, a loading or unloading stop means cars approaching from both directions must also stop, the division pointed out. Traffic so stopped may then proceed, provided no children are leaving the bus or crossing the roadway.

The law, adopted by the 1949 state legislature, exempts from stopping only vehicles approaching the bus from the opposite direction on the far side of a roadway having three or more lanes.
