

Public Domain Lands Opened For Hunting

Roscoe E. Bell, regional administrator of the Bureau of Land Management, recently told sportsmen and others that the public lands belong to the people, and are open to public use and enjoyment. He explained that many people in the past have thought that public lands leased for grazing were closed to hunting.

He emphasized, however, that grazing leases permit only the utilization of the livestock forage, and in no way legally affect the rights of others to use such lands for hunting, fishing or other recreational and lawful uses.

To help sportsmen in locating the public domain areas, status maps have been prepared showing the location of federal, state and private lands outside the national forests. Those interested in learning the location of the public lands are invited to call at the bureau's office at Vale to obtain information.

Bell warned that some public domain lands are blocked to public use by private lands or private roads, and that access cannot be guaranteed when such a condition exists.

Success in the multiple use management of public lands calls for close cooperation of all users of the

Puffed Up With Pride

Have you ever wished you could make a luscious, chocolate-y souffle that reaches upward in proud majesty and hasn't a thought of falling? Such a souffle can be one of your best accomplishments if you follow a good recipe carefully.

You will be the talk of the neighborhood as a chef if you learn the secret about souffles: timing. Note well the time called for baking in the recipe below: one hour ten minutes, or until the souffle is firm. When cooked, serve immediately—that's where timing comes in too, for this is a dessert that cannot be cooked in advance. Bring it to the table steaming hot and serve with your favorite sauce or heavy cream. The results are well worth the care that's required, for this chocolate souffle is a truly delicious dish to add to your cooking accomplishments.

Chocolate Souffle
2 squares unsweetened chocolate
2 cups milk
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon salt

2 tablespoons butter
2 teaspoons vanilla
4 egg yolks, beaten until thick and lemon-colored
4 egg whites, stiffly beaten

Add chocolate to milk and heat in double boiler. When chocolate is melted, beat with rotary egg beater until blended. Combine sugar, flour, and salt. Add small amount of chocolate mixture, stirring until smooth. Return to double boiler and cook until thickened, stirring constantly; then continue cooking 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add butter and vanilla. Cool slightly while beating eggs. Add egg yolks and mix well. Fold into egg whites. Turn into greased baking dish. Place in pan of hot water and bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 1 hour and 10 minutes, or until souffle is firm. Serve immediately with your favorite sauce or with cream. Makes 8 servings.

lands. Sportsmen have a real responsibility to all other public land users to prevent fires and to prevent losses of livestock being grazed on the public lands. This means that every precaution must be exercised with fire and protection given to livestock and property.

Vale Man Named Year's Cattleman

The Malheur county cattleman of the year was named this week when a special committee of livestock men and business men selected George Russell, of Vale, as their outstanding county rancher of the year, according to an announcement made by Harry Sandquist, secretary of the Malheur County Livestock Association.

Russell has been engaged in the livestock industry in Malheur county for nearly 30 years. He has been active in the Malheur County Livestock Association since it was organized and is currently serving as president of the local group. He is on the executive committee of the Oregon Cattleman's Association and was recently appointed by Governor McKay to serve on the state advisory committee as a representative of the Oregon cattlemen. He is also a member and chairman of the advisory board of the bureau of land management.

Committee spokesman said that Russell's ranch and farm operations show the results of careful planning and progressive management. The ranch is unique in that it successfully combines operating a range type of livestock enterprise and an efficient feed lot where several hundred cattle are fed each year.

The method of utilizing both range and farm land by Russell was carefully considered by the committee before making their selection.

"Railroading", Theme Of Boy Scout Drive

Theme for the Malheur district Boy Scout drive this year will be "Railroading," Nephi Grigg, district drive chairman, said this week.

The fund drive will be held in all districts of the Ore-Ida council at the same time this year. The campaign will raise money for a 15-month budget which will provide the Ore-Ida council with funds for the rest of 1952 and all of 1953.

Expanding on the use of a "railroading" theme, Grigg said that it would be used to develop the idea of traveling with a Boy Scout to useful manhood. Railroad slang and terminology will be used in organizing the campaign.

Said dispatcher Grigg: "Trains are being made up to carry the more than 3,000 scouts and cubs in the Ore-Ida council on a 15-month trip of high adventure. The Boy Scout train will start rolling when the campaign begins Oct. 13.

It was not stated whether or not the following visits of the examiners will be on alternate Tuesdays, but notices are sent to this newspaper well in advance of the date.

A new novel of China by the author of "Rickshaw Boy" tells the story of a valiant traveling troupe who recite folk literature to the accompaniment of drum and three-stringed instrument. They are "The Drum Singers," as described by Ching-chun Shu better known by his pseudonym, Lau Shaw.

The reactions of Granam Greene to the works of various other writers are contained in "The Lost Childhood, and Other Essays."

"The Lore of the Old Testament" by Joseph Gaer is a selection of stories on Biblical themes that have gained currency through the ages and achieved the status of folklore.

C. S. Forester adds to his saga of a sea hero in "Lieutenant Hornblower." This novel follows Mr. Midshipman Hornblower in chronology. Mary Warren Geer's "Selling Home Property" advises fellow home sellers on topics such as how to have the best listings and how to make one's showings count.

"Revolution and Tradition in Modern American Art" attempts to trace in our sculpture and painting of the last 50 years the chief movements and trends.

Dr. George Preston discusses the practical sides of the question in "Should I Retire?" His chapters each pose a question: "What can I do if I retire?" "What can children do?" "What happens when I am very old?" "What about money?"

A new Ellery Queen volume is a collection of short stories called "The House of Crime."

WE JOIN OUR OPPONENTS!

Monday, September 29, 1952.—Ellery Sills, President of the Oregon Highway Council, the organization which placed the ballot tax initiative measure on the ballot that is under fire in a suit in the tax court of Marion county, circuit by Ben Chandler, chairman of the Oregon Highway Commission and others, today endorsed the objectives of this suit and expressed the hope that the court would decide in favor of the plaintiffs.

"This suit," he stated, "asks that a price be placed on this law—that is, that under the provisions of a 1951 act, there be a statement printed on the ballot giving the amount of revenue that will be affected by its passage. This figure is arrived at by a committee composed of the Secretary of State, the State Treasurer and the Executive Secretary to the Governor.

"Attorney Gen. George Neuner has ruled that the provisions of the act do not apply to this particular measure, and we have been willing to abide by his decision.

"However, we see in this suit a means for getting a fair and impartial estimate of revenue and the presented up of fantastic and irrational claims that are now being made. We hope the suit is successful, and offer any assistance in our power.

"We want only a fair and impartial presentation of this problem, and will do everything possible to bring it about."

On Saturday, September 27, the following news release was issued to the Portland newspapers and news services—

WE BELIEVE THE SUIT WAS FILED FOR PUBLICITY PURPOSES TO FOCUS ATTENTION ON OUR OPPONENTS' CLAIMS. THESE CLAIMS ARE SO EXAGGERATED AND UNTRUE, WE WELCOME THIS SUIT WHICH WILL ESTABLISH A TRUE AMOUNT AFFECTED BY THIS LAW.
