

Fish Hatcheries Net New Record

Oregon's 14 game fish hatcheries produced for release in the 1952 trout season ending Oct. 12, a record-breaking 535,000 pounds of fish, a gain of 46,000 pounds over last year. State Game Director P. W. Schneider explains that the game commission in placing emphasis on poundage and not numbers of fish, as the increased weight represents larger fish and a better return to the state's 275,000 resident and 23,000 non-resident anglers. The director foresees no increase in game fish production until the new Leaburg hatchery on the McKenzie river is brought into production in 1954. Hatchery supervisors and their crews worked at capacity to attain this year's record. The Leaburg hatchery is being built by the army engineers, and will have an annual capacity for 500,000 yearling trout. Under stipulations made by the federal government, all Leaburg hatchery fish must be stocked in the Willamette river basin to offset trout losses brought about by Willamette Valley projects.

SRV Conference Vikings Remain In Top SRV Spot

Vale's Vikings continued their winning ways in the Snake River Valley football conference by winning last Friday night from the Weiser Wolverines at Weiser by an 18-12 score. Weiser drew first blood when Ron Campbell returned the first Vale kickoff up the middle of the field for a touchdown. Some six minutes later, Halback Cox made the Wolverines' second goal on an off-tackle run of 60 yards.

The powerful Vikings were not to be denied, however, scoring in the second quarter on a pass. They scored it up with two more in the third quarter, both on running plays. Passing played an important part in this, as with all of Vale's games this season. The Nyssa Bulldogs lost to the Vikings by a 19-6 score in a game played here Oct. 10.

credit for the high individual game score. This honor goes, instead, to Lila Haroldsen, a newcomer to Nyssa and a beginner bowler who rolls 'em for the Bowling Center team. Her score was 169. Our apologies, Lila.

Interest is keen and good individual and team scores are being rolled in the Ladies' and Men's Bowling leagues. If, however, the Journal is to continue publishing complete scores and team standings each week, the respective league secretaries are going to have to do better job of record keeping—and have the records available to the press the morning following league play.

We dislike the making of mistakes, especially when it's the fault of others—as occurred last week when two persons bowled higher scores than the one credited.

Speaking of bowling—top kglers will have something to shoot at, that is, if they want to raise their sights to a time in 1954.

For the first time in its history, the American Bowling Congress will be held in the Pacific Northwest. The tournament, the world's largest participant sports event, was awarded to Seattle at the last ABC annual convention meeting last spring at Milwaukee.

Howard Lovejoy dropped into the office the other day to say how much he had enjoyed the brief visit recently of George Iseri—and at 6 o'clock in the morning, mind you!

The genial coach said the former Nyssa high school athlete had enough medals on his army in-

Bullpups Gunning For 2nd Spot In

Nyssa high school's Bulldogs are pitted in a battle with the Weiser Wolverines at 8 p. m. Friday on the Bulldog field that could possibly land them in second place in the Snake River Valley conference, or at least in a tie for the coveted spot.

The dope gives the Bulldogs the edge, but the Wolverines, as their moniker implies, have always been a scrappy and rugged team.

Current standings in the seven-school SRV conference list the Bulldogs in third place, with a record of two wins and one loss. They are listed second, however, in the Oregon District 1 play with Vale leading with no losses. Ontario is in third spot and John Day fourth.

Team standings in the SRV conference follow:

Team	Won	Lost
Vale	4	0
Weiser	3	1
Payette	3	1
Nyssa	2	1
Ontario	2	2
Meridian	1	4
Emmett	0	4

Bullpups Lose 3rd Game In Row

Lossing by a 14-6 score, the Nyssa Bullpups lost their third game of the grid season to the Adrian B-squad on the Nyssa field Oct. 13, although the B-pups were first to score when End Cox raced for the goal line on a hand-off from Simurian. Try for point failed.

Arian replied in kind near the end of the same quarter on an end run. Try for point was good. Adrian made it seven more in the final quarter.

Apple Valley Tips Parma By 18-6

Sparked by the playing of Ronald Bale, fullback, and an alert line underdog Apple Valley defeated a determined Parma team 18-6 last week. First score was made on an intercepted Parma pass by Bale on their 30-yard line and galloped for a touchdown with the game only four minutes old.

The game was stalemated the balance of the half, with Parma unable to make headway against a determined Apple Valley team.

The second half started slow, no scores being made until the fourth quarter when, on an end run with plenty of interference, Bale again went over for a touchdown, this time for 70 yards.

Shortly afterwards, Parma completed a long pass to Apple Valley's 10 yard stripe. On a third down a touchdown was made. A run of 50 yards by Bale was called back for offensive holding, but, on the next play the score was 18 to 6. Apple Valley meets Ten Davis Fri-day at Apple Valley in Volleyball at 1 p. m. and football at 2 p. m.

SPORT SHORTS

By DICK YOST

As the old saw goes: "There's more than one way to skin a cat." A young fellow down Weiser way has resorted to a queer hunting quirk to offer proof, according to reports. James E. Braden, 18, put his deer tag on a three-point buck after it had darted in front of his car and was hit by it three miles north of Weiser on Highway 95.

It was an expensive buck, though, as it cost Braden from 100 to 150 "bucks" to repair his car.

An error was inadvertently made last week in reporting the bowling scores for the Women's Commercial league by giving Maxine Brown

The answer to everyday insurance problems*

By RALPH LAWRENCE

QUESTION: I am a young man, recently married, with an average income and I don't own my own home. An insurance man tried to tell me I should carry big liability insurance on my car but it seems to me these big policies are for people with a lot of property to protect. Am I right?

ANSWER: Very definitely no! You are just as likely to have an accident as a rich man and what personal property you have wouldn't begin to pay a big judgment against you. In that case a deficiency judgment could be rendered and you might be paying for it out of your future income for many years. Insurance protects you even more than it protects the wealthy man.
