Irrigation has made Oregon wasteland productive.

The tin can made large-scale irrigation pay off by creating a world-wide market for the greatly increased crops grown on newly-made-fertile acres. Today, Oregon's canners pay farmers more than $18,000,000 a year for fruits and vegetables for processing.

And you share—along with everyone in Oregon—in the huge income that is provided as the State's canned food goes to market.

We at American Can Company are proud of the part that we have had in helping Oregon's canning industry grow.

As we continue to develop better containers, and more economical ways of making them, even more people will be able to earn a better living growing, producing, and packaging Oregon products for the markets of the world.
