All-stars Bow to Hawaiians 69-40;

The touring Hawaiian Ambassadors Basketball club of Honolulu bested the Nyssa All-stars here last Saturday night by a score of 69-40 before approximately 300 fans.

During the first and last quarters, the All-stars played on fairly even terms, the first period ending with the Hawaiians leading 12-9.

Going into the final period, the visitors were leading by 53-19, but the All-stars made 21 points during the quarter to 16 by the Ambassadors.

Generalized by Ron Kim, star forward for the Ambassadors, the visitors rapidly pulled away from the tiring All-stars during the two middle quarters. The locals made but eight points during the second period and two during the third, while the Hawaiians swished in 22 and 19 during the same periods.

Low Beck High Pointer
Low Beck, former OSC star and All-American, as guest player for the All-stars, was high point man with 14, just two under Kim's 16 for the Ambassador's high pointer. Bob Church snared 10 points and Bob Wilson eight.

The All-stars were coached by Joe Bellon. Starters were Church and Beck, guards; Tom Moore and Lloyd Wilson, forwards; and B. Wilson, center. Others seeing action were Harold Wilson, Lyle Miner, Ray Larson, Cal Wilson, Stan Mann and Don Herron.

Starters for the Hawaiian club, coached and managed by Art Kim, were Miyashiro and Kim, forwards; Makini and Ziehn, guards, and Zorning, six-foot eight-inch center who shone at the pivot position under the basket.

Delightful half-time entertainment was provided by a trio of professional hula dancers and singers, who sang and danced to accompaniment of Hawaiian music rendered by the players.

Entertainers were Leilani Kanoho, star dancer of Queen's Surf club; Kapiolani Miller, star dancer of Don the Beachcomber's, and Kaula Low, soloist of Hotel Nuimalu Canoe room, all of Honolulu.

Ace Pastime Leads Men's League

Ace Pastime gained undisputed lead in the Men's Commercial Bowling league for the first time last week as Tobler's Feed lost four points to the Bowling Center team.

Vying for high team series was close, with Tobler's taking the honors with 2274 point—two more than Nyssa Lumber and four more than Waggoner's.

N. Van Meter took high individual series honors with 673 and high single game with 278. Waggoner's posted 874 for high team game.

CLASS B TEAMS POST WIDE-MARGIN WINS

Lop-sided scores featured the playing Friday night of class B high schools in non-conference games, with Middleton and Marsing seemingly most evenly matched, Marsing winning by a 47-41 score.

In other games Fruitland measured Notus 52-37, New Plymouth sailed by Homedale 58-17 and Parma won over Adrian 58-44.

In Tuesday night play Homedale lost to Marsing 51-23, while Fruitland was taking a close one from Middleton 45-39 at Middleton.

Adrian was shellacked 71-24 by New Plymouth at Adrian. The Adrian Bees also lost to the Idahoans 68-34.
