Postmaster Lloyd Lewi, had to kill an animal intruder at his residence to determine what it was. Postmaster Lewis and his wife were awakened from a deep slumber, when they heard a thumping noise near one of their windows. Presently a silhouette appeared in the window, something on the order of a sitting kangaroo. Finally Mr. Lewis developed enough courage to capture the animal. On the way out he picked up an irrigation shovel and started the attack. Later Mr. Lewis brought the animal to town, where it was identified as a muskrat. — Lee Cables, Wayne Chesnut and John Updegraff filed articles of incorporation of Nyssa Motors at the fourth of the year. The concern which will hold the Chevrolet franchise, was incorporated for $100,000. — An unusual shipment of seed was made this week by the Desert Seed company of Nyssa to Kirchoff & Co., Ltd. of South Africa. Instead of shipping the 550 lbs. of vegetable seed in large bags, the company shipped the seed in 10 lb. bags by parcel post because of faster service and lower rate.

ELECTRIC LIGHT IS A BARGAIN - USE IT FREELY!

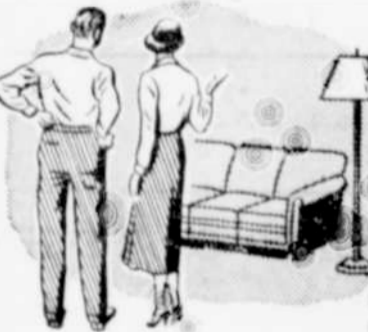

4 SIMPLE STEPS TO BETTER LIGHTING

Everyone spends more time indoors in winter. That calls for plentiful electric lighting — to speed your household chores, brighten up bleak days and nights, and protect your family's precious eyesight.

Here's a simple check to make sure your lighting is up to par:

1. Dust shades and wash reflectors and light bulbs. Don't let dust and dirt rob you of light that belongs to you.

2. Check location of lamps and fixtures. Is furniture arranged to give you the most advantageous use of light? Are additional lamps needed to insure adequate light?

3. Make sure the right-size bulbs are in use. Close seeing requires 150 Watts or better; 100 to 150 Watts is sufficient for most overhead fixtures. Your dealer will be glad to advise you.

4. Be sure to stock up on light bulbs—in a variety of sizes. Replace old darkened bulbs. See that all empty sockets are filled. Electricity costs a little in Snake River Valley, you can enjoy a well-lighted home for just a few pennies a day.
