and it comes off. Here is another thing that puzzles me. Supposing you are trying to fix the radio, something which is strictly a man's job and completely out of a woman's field. Your wife looks over your stoulder and points to a little screw that souldn's pos-sibly have anything to do with the fact that the radio doesn't work and says, "Why don't you twist that ittle thing-a-ma-bob there."
