Your Library

Historical novels of adventure top the list of books going into circulation on Saturday at the Malheur County Library.

John Jennings' new book, "Banners Against the Wind," is a biographical novel about Samuel Gridley Howe who offered his services as a doctor in the Greek war for independence of 1824.

A new novel of adventure by Edison Marshall called "American Captain" concerns the exploits of an American sailor in the early 1800's mainly in Africa.

Adventures of an earlier period are told by John Clou in "A Caravan to Camul," a story of the time when Mongol tribes were gathering under Jenghiz Khan.

"The Best American Short Stories, 1954" is the annual selection from American magazines edited by Martha Foley.

"Living and Learning in Nursery School" by Marguerita Rudolph is a book intended primarily for nursery school teachers.

"Your Deafness Is Not You" by Grace Murphy describes experiences in meeting deafness and learning to live purposefully beyond it.

Raymond Yates describes inexpensive tools and techniques in "How to Restore China, Bric-a-brac, and Small Antiques."

A comprehensive picture of the effort to achieve fair employment practices through government intervention is presented in the study by Louis Ruchames called "Race, Jobs, and Politics."

A mystery and a western complete the list: "The Woman on the Roof" by Helen Nielsen and "Reluctant Gunman" by William MacLeod Raine.

A new addition to the John Deere tractor line is on display at Hollingsworth's, Inc. of Nyssa, it was announced by Manager Earl Hollingsworth. The new tractor is known as the "70" and is a tricycle type, full diesel development for fuel economy.

Hollingsworth said the John Deere model "R" established a fuel economy record in 1949 which has never been equaled and the new "70" in recent tests has exceeded fuel economy of the model "R". Other features include live hydraulic power control, optional power steering, live power shaft and a 3-point hitch.
