With the ever increasing use of mechanical thinners for sugar beets, the Milton Precision Planter is becoming a necessity in order to get the most uniform stand.

There is no other planter that gives the uniform seed spacing which lends itself to the best advantage of mechanical thinning. The Planters are so constructed as to space seeds as closely as 1 inch apart or 2 inches, giving from 6 to 12 seeds per foot of row, by using the same seed wheel and simply changing the size of the drive gear.

This planter opens its own furrow, drops the seeds at precise intervals on a firmly packed seed bed, presses the soil over the seed and then leaves a perfect mulch over the seed row. With this method of planting it has been proven that germination has been increased from 10 to 15%.

Milton Planters come with either the standard drawbars which enables them to be attached to any standard tool or cultivator bar, or with the collar type draw bars so that they can easily be mounted on the frame of the Great Western thinner as shown above.
