Stranger In The County

By Bill Campbell

So help me, 'tis claimed the following story is true.

Not so long ago a cow belonging to a nearby farmer just plain didn't feel good. It seems that all the neighbors joined in a consultation, each with a pet remedy (no veterinary was called in) and the bovine was given the following ingredients: a shot of turpentine, some milk and linseed oil, all of which had little affect, for the good, anyway, on bossy. Finally it was suggested some whiskey might help so a fifth was poured down the cow's gullet. Bossy immediately passed to her reward.

But her smile was a thing of beauty

Here's hoping the Nyssa chamber of commerce isn't judged by that tottering, paint-flecked, tilted sign on the north side of the highway as one approaches the bridge from the Idaho side. (Assuming the bridge will still be there come Thursday.) Not quite the first impression any of the businessmen would care about if the sign were advertising his own establishment. Better take up a nickel apiece at the next meeting and dress it up. After all, it's quite awhile before the burned-out Christmas lights must be replaced.

Jane Zittercob has learned the hard way that just because a cake starts melting before one even takes a bite doesn't mean there will be a discount.

Choice word department: Listening to the tanker drivers who were stopped at the bridge Monday morning.

Sports note: Pound for pound can anyone come up with the name of a Nyssa high athlete that can top Dennis Savage?

My mother, who lives in Spokane, takes our paper, naturally, and seems to enjoy the "Men About Nyssa" column, but one thing stumped her.

Mother is one of those rock-ribbed Republicans from way back who, had Al Capone been on a national ticket, would have voted for him without blinking an eye. (She'll deny this, but it's true.) She is also a most faithful churchgoer.

She recently wrote me the following concerning Tom Jones' story.

"Bill! Do you mean he's a Democrat AND an Episcopalian?"

Marion Tracy at the Olympic Sportsmen was expounding on the delicious meat found on Crappies. Then he started to explain how best to prepare them. First, sez he, you boil them. (ug). Then, separating the meat from the bones you add this and that until you have a wonderful chowder.

That sounds like quite a mess of Crappie to me.

Speaking of fishing, in the near future I hope to start a column on the sports page with the cooperation of those handling sporting goods around town.

As long as they get the news I'm in the clear for they HAVE to smile at some of the fish stories due to be imposed on them.

Bye now, and why not fish first for bargains in Nyssa?

The Golden Rule Chapter of the Eastern Star held their regular meeting last Monday evening at the Masonic hall with Mrs. Emil Paulus and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Forbes as host and hostesses.

RELIGION IN LIFE

"Prepare To Meet Thy God"

Traveling by auto we come across signs somewhat weather-beaten located on dangerous curves warning of the "Wrath To Come." Some people will argue that they are a menace to highway safety, others will shrug them off as the work of fanatics. My own reaction to the one between here and Caldwell on highway 20, "Prepare To Meet Thy God", is "Yes, Let's Prepare To Meet Him In The Daily Contacts of Life." If we are alert and responsive we can see God in the green fields, the desert flowers and the splendid sunsets. We can also see him in the friendly smiles of townspeople and country folk, in the mutual trust of friends, in the response of neighbors to disaster. In a very special way we can expect to meet God in church on the day of worship as we hear the eternal words of wisdom and inspiration and sing together the hymns of our faith. The highway sign is right in suggesting that there needs to be some preparation if we are to see God in the world about us. We shall need to lift our eyes from the gutter, and push aside our selfish pursuits. Jesus, the one who taught us to call God, "Our Father", said if we are pure in heart we shall see Him.

May we be able to say with the great naturalist, when asked if he had made his peace with God, "We have never quarrelled."

Episcopal Church News

"O God, who for our redemption didst give thine only-begotten Son to the death of the Cross, and by his glorious resurrection hast delivered us from the power of our enemy; Grant us so to die daily from sin, that we may evermore live with him in the joy of his resurrection; through the same thy Son Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen."

Jack Church, lay reader, read the morning prayer service Sunday for the minister who was home in bed.

Bishop Barton had a meeting with the Bishop's committee Sunday afternoon on building affairs. You will receive a report on this meeting in the next letter.

The proper lessons for Sunday, the 3rd Sunday after Easter, as found in the book of Common Prayer are: Psalm: 124; I Samuel 2:1-10; Acts 2:22-36.

The subject for Sunday night will be the same as last week: "He ascended into heaven and sitteth on the right hand of God the Father Almighty." 7:30.

"Assist us mercifully with thy help, O Lord God of our salvation; that we may enter with joy upon the meditation of those mighty acts, whereby thou hast given unto us life everlasting; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen."

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Niens have moved to Portland, Oregon where they will make their home.
