TOBLER'S FEED & FUEL, INC.

Nyssa, Oregon

DID YOU EVER THINK OF YOUR SOW AS A PIG FACTORY?

Probably many of you haven't but that is exactly what a good sow is... a pig factory. Improper feeding will harm a pig factory, but it will show up most in the litter size and pig condition. You see, mother nature has provided for the sow, but she didn't do so well by the baby pig embryos.

During early gestation it is estimated by authorities that 20-30% of all embryos are lost. If the ration is not rich enough in needed ingredients, the sow will resorb the tiny embryos into her system. They measure only one inch long at 30 days.

Good sows properly fed will develop from 10 to 12 embryos to 2 1/2 to 3 pounds in 112-114 days. That's why she needs the right "raw materials"... Sow and Pig Chow... fed according to the Purina program to do the job.

With hog prices down it is more important than ever that your sows get Sow and Pig Chow during gestation to enable them to farrow big litters of husky pigs. And this is where you will be able to make a profit per sow. Ask us to help you get those extra profits on the Purina Hog Program. Many of your neighbors are making money on it.

GET AN EXTRA LACTATION BY GROWING HEIFERS FAST

Many dairymen take three good years to grow a heifer, but it's being done right along in two, giving an extra lactation and extra profit.

In fact the Purina and Heifer program is built to do the job in 24 months on Holstein heifers. Many Purina feeders usually breed at about 15 months of age and heifers freshen at 2 years weighing 1200 pounds. Heifers of this size will be able to take the feed and convert more of it to milk rather than growth which means more profit to a dairyman.

This means that by the time she is 30 months old a heifer should have paid for growing her. Recently 14 first-calf heifers at the Purina Farm averaged 10,691 lbs. of milk and 404.5 lbs. of butterfat and increased to 12,078 lbs. of milk and 481 lbs. of butterfat in their second lactation.

They were grown on the Purina Nursing Chow and Calf Startena to four months, then with Bulky Las and oats mixed 50-50 until freshening. Ask for one of our Purina Dairy Books giving many tips about growing heifers you'll be proud to have in the barn.

DON'T CHEAT YOUR PULLETS BECAUSE THEY'LL CHEAT YOU

To make long profits from the laying flock most of us agree that a good quality chick is a must. Many also agree that the best start possible is none too good, but many put the birds on so-called cheaper feeds after four or five weeks.

We say "so-called" because lost production often makes the "cheap" feed cost more in the long run. That's why we've urged you to start and grow birds all the way on the Purina plan that's right for you. We have a complete feed plan, one that takes a little grain and another that uses a lot of home-grown grain.

Our goal is to help you grow your flock out right at the lowest possible cost.

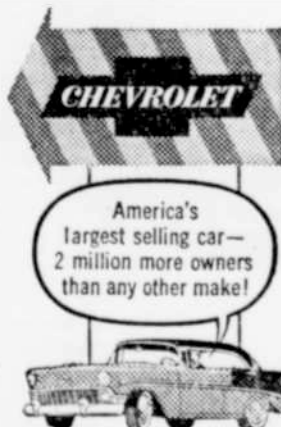

For the man with no grain we suggest old reliable Purina Growena be fed from 4 to 5 weeks to 10 weeks. Growena gives fast growth and helps build a big frame fast. At 10 weeks switch to Purina Pullet Developer, a lower cost feed, which will adequately nourish and build birds until they start to lay. Did you know that 3/4 of all a bird eats is consumed between 10 weeks and the time she begins to lay? Ask about the plan that's right for you. Raise your laying replacements properly and you will get greater returns in the number of eggs that they lay.

More people named Jones* own Chevrolets than any other car!

*Of course we haven't actually counted all the Joneses. But it seems a safe guess. Because this year—as they have year after year—more people are buying Chevrolets. And 2 million more people drive Chevrolets than any other car. Maybe you ought to come in and see why this is so.

(Are you keeping up with the Joneses?)
