Low-Calorie Snack Fits To A Tea!

A pleasant way to shun the sun these sultry days is to take a tea-time-out from your chores, relaxing beside a tray like this of nibbly icebox cookies and tall, frosty glasses of iced tea. Heat-producing calories are kept to a minimum in these slimmed snacks, for both the cookies and the tea are sweetened with pure saccharin, more than 400 times sweeter than sugar but containing not a single weight-adding calorie. To sweeten the tea, choose from several brands of liquid saccharin, or dissolve 24 1/4-grain tablets in one-half cup of water to make your own syrup. A teaspoonful equals one teaspoon of sugar in sweetening power. You can freeze and keep rolls of these icebox cookies handy for munching in a matter of minutes.

Orange Pecan Cookies

- Dissolve . . . . . 6 saccharin tablets (1/4 grain each) in 1/4 cup unsweetened orange juice
  - 1 teaspoon vanilla
  - 1 cup shortening
  - 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
  - 1/4 teaspoon salt
  - 1/4 teaspoon baking powder
  - 1/2 cup orange juice
  - 1 teaspoon grated orange rind
  - 2 tablespoons pecans, finely chopped
- Shape dough into a roll 2 inches thick and wrap in waxed paper. Chill in refrigerator until firm enough to slice, about 2 hours. Cut into 1/4-inch slices and place on ungreased pan. Bake on rack slightly above center in 400° oven for 12 minutes. Makes 18 cookies.

Petitions Needed To Insure Vote on Reapportionment

An appeal to all persons to return as soon as possible all initiative petitions for a constitutional amendment providing for the federal plan for reapportioning the state legislature, was issued this week by Emil Stunz, Malheur county representative in the legislature.

Petitions bearing more than 2000 signatures have been sent to the county clerk to check signatures and most of them in turn have been filed with the secretary of state, Stunz said.

All petitions must be on file in Salem by July 5 and several days are sometimes required to check signatures at the county clerk's office in Vale, Stunz warned.

The state representative, who has spearheaded the drive in Malheur county with cooperation of the Farm Bureau and other organizations and individuals, said the rural area and Vale have made a better showing than Nyssa and Ontario.

Even though Malheur county has enough signatures to meet the ratio necessary to get the measure on the ballot, hundreds of more signers are wanted in the event that some western Oregon counties fall short of their required number, it was explained.

Reports from other parts of the state indicated that proponents of the measure are confident the issue will be on the ballot in the November general election. Giles French, publisher of the Sherman County Journal at Moro and one of the chief instigators of the proposal on a statewide basis, last week expressed confidence the issue will not only get on the ballot, it will pass. French ventured a prediction that the measure will receive about 40 percent support in Multnomah county, site of the only actual opposition.

The federal plans call for one senator from each county instead of the present plan based on population.

Leaves on Mission

Daryl Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Williams of Nyssa left Wednesday to serve two years in the North Central states mission for the LDS church.

He left for Salt Lake City where he will be in the mission home for a week and will then leave for Minneapolis, Minn., where he will receive his assignment.

Friday evening he was honored by the quorum of elders at a farewell party at the stakehouse, and Monday evening party at the E. H. Beus home. A testimonial service was held Sunday evening at the Nyssa LDS Chapel.

Court Receives Cattle Disease Test Petitions

Petitions were presented to the county court Wednesday of last week requesting them to hold a public hearing to determine if Malheur county will be declared a brucellosis test area, according to Tom McElroy, chairman of the county disease control committee.

The petitions, signed by over 100 dairy and beef cattle operators in the county, is the first step toward having Malheur county certified brucellosis free.

A thorough clean-up of any reactors will be beneficial to producers and consumers alike, McElroy said. The public health factor in brucellosis control has long been an important reason why as much emphasis has been placed on the eradication of this disease as has been the case for 20 years. In addition to this important benefit, producers will realize greater efficiency in the production of meat and milk once the disease is eradicated.

New markets for Malheur county breeding stock will be opened as a direct result of this county becoming certified brucellosis free, according to McElroy. At the present time, heifers and cows being shipped from Malheur county into Washington, Idaho, western Oregon and an increasing number of states all over the nation must be tested before shipping or must be quarantined and tested upon arrival at their destination. This is an important consideration given by buyers before they can bid on local livestock.

The test, to receive the certification, necessitates the testing of all dairy cattle, all barnyard stock, all purebred stock and 20

Seed Men Warned Of July 1 Deadline

A reminder that seed certification applications are due at the county agent's office by July 1 was issued by Leeds Bailey, county extension agent, this week.

He said that all seed crops that are to be certified this year require the field inspection. This examination is in addition to the seedling inspections required when alfalfa and red clover are planted.

Application blanks and regulations covering the certification of the various crops are available at the county agent's office.
