25 cents of every dollar Standard takes in goes to meet your future oil needs

Our search for oil has led to drilling offshore wells like this one (in the Gulf of Mexico) costing nearly 6 times more than land wells.

BUILDING "ISLANDS" IN THE SEA from which to probe the ocean floor is one good example of how we must search farther afield to find the oil America uses in such quantity. And as new sources of oil become harder to find, locating it and bringing petroleum products to you grows more costly.

Last year, a quarter of every dollar Standard took in was plowed back into oil exploration, development of producing fields, research and construction of facilities. All told, during 1955 we invested $347 million to help meet your growing oil needs.

Petroleum progress means... each of us will need 1007 gallons of oil yearly by 1965
