Of Interest to The Fair Sex

By IONA FLINDERS

Have you seen the new Dura-Suede cotton skirts? They are yards around — highlighted with colors and splashes of gold . . . your choice of creamy white or black background and only $4.95. They go equally well with sweaters or bleuses.

We really enjoyed a group of very attractive and peppy high school girls who were examining and admiring our Junior fashions.

We find that expressions used now vary some from the ones we used. Such as: a "keen" fellow was one who was definitely "tops." "Snazzy" meant one was really decked out neat. But times do change and we find that collections of cartoons are replacing pin-ups now on locker doors.

If a girl appears to be dominated by the whims of the boyfriend, she's labeled as "himpecked."

"What planet are you from?" means everybody knows but you. That should make one come down to earth, shouldn't it?

These girls really raved over the new sleepwear. Some liked the cozy brushed rayons with tiny puff sleeves and touches of gossamer sheer nylon fluted edgings, with the same trim on the comfortable shorty bottoms.

Others preferred the long wearing, wonderful feeling nylon sport pajamas. Just a dainty touch of color in fancy stitching makes them perfect for the girl who prefers tailored things. Bows of ribbon, rosettes and beautiful elegant laces trim up the more feminine types in white crystal, pink cameo and blue sapphire shades.

We were really stumped when all at once one of the girls called out, "Let's pickle our dillies and tally our hos," until we found out they meant it was time to pack up and leave!

Be happy and stay young.

CRANBERRY MOLD: Put through food chopper: 1 cup walnuts, 4 cups washed and drained cranberries, 1 diced unpeeled orange. Blend 2 cups sugar into cranberry mixture. Allow to stand 15 minutes until sugar is dissolved. Soften 1 package plain gelatin in ¼ cup cold water. Pour 1½ cups boiling water over 2 packages lemon flavored gelatin; stir thoroughly until dissolved. Add 1½ cups cold water to gelatin; let stand until slightly thickened and congealed. Blend cranberry mixture into gelatin. Brush 10 x 2½-inch ring mold with salad oil. Pour into mold. Chill 10 hours. Serves 10-12.
