Review of Local FFA Projects Accents Progress of Organization

Fifty-one boys completed their supervised farming program in the Nyssa chapter this fall. Combining all projects we find there was a total of 466 head of livestock, 33 poultry, 185 1/2 acres of crops. The total net income for this farming operation was $38,139.91, which gave an average net return of $743.88. Not all projects made money, as this average indicates. We cannot, however, measure the educational value of these projects in dollars alone.

Considering the low prices for swine, we had an increase over last year of 23 boys having 152 head of swine, netting $1,792.38. Second in number of animals was dairy, with 18 boys carrying a total of 64 head, netting $3,714.46. These dairy projects had the largest number of hours of labor. Sheep were third in number with 8 boys having a total of 40 head, netting $364.86. Sixteen boys had 134 head of beef, netting $919.52. Three boys carried poultry, with a total of 176 birds, with a return of $51.85.

A project of 10 hives of bees was carried by one boy.

The crop projects of the Nyssa Future Farmers were as diverse as the crops of the area. 26 1/2 acres of grain, 3 acres of hay, 5 acres of grass seed, one acre of alfalfa seed, 1 1/2 acres of field corn, 52 acres of corn silage, 5 acres of pasture, 22 acres of potatoes, 7 1/2 acres of onions, 24 acres of sugar beets, 3 home gardens. This gives a net return for the crop projects of $30,693.05.

Most of the boys have taken advantage of every opportunity,

Fertilizer Business Started in Area By Seed Companies

A new firm, known as the Intervally Distributors, Inc., with headquarters at Adrian Feed company and Parma Seed company has started a fertilizer distribution business, handling NH3 nitrogen for growers.

Owned by Mark Purcell and Gerald Powell of Parma and Earl Winn of Adrian, a complete service has been planned.

Tank cars of NH3 will be unloaded at Adrian with field tanks available at both Adrian and Parma. The grower will have his option of ordering the fertilizer from either Adrian or Parma or can haul his own at a reduced price. Tentative starting date is set no later than February 15.

Intervally will also distribute dry fertilizer and insecticides to dealers on a wholesale basis.

High School Ag Student Discusses Experiences, Projects In FFA Work

By Lester Rataerzyk

I've been taking vocational agriculture since I was a freshman. Now I am in my Junior year and I expect to take Vocational Agriculture in my senior year. The reason I take Vocational Agriculture is that it is very interesting. I have learned a lot of scientific farming.

My project consists of breeding swine and raising crops.

In my freshman year I had two registered Tamworth sows and one registered Tamworth boar and 21 weiners. Also I had one Duroc sow which we sold. In crops I had five acres of silage corn.

In my sophomore year I had four registered Tamworth sows, two registered Tamworth boars and about 41 little ones. In crops

I had five acres of barley, wheat and five acres of field corn.

In my junior year I started out with three Tamworth sows, 12 boars, 13 feeders and 23 piglets. I plan to sell the boars and buy another one back East. I also plan to increase my herd up to seven sows. In crops I plan to have at least ten acres of field corn, five acres of mixed grain and maybe five acres of hay seed.

I've shown my swine at the chapter fair, county fair, Eastern Oregon Livestock Exposition and the state fair.
