

Farmers Urged To Investigate Crop Insurance

Malheur county farmers are taking advantage and are urged to participate in the federal crop insurance program offered by the department of agriculture, it has been reported by Mel Beck, FCIC agent.

Increased costs for labor, seed, machinery, taxes and all other things connected with crop production illustrate the importance of protecting crop investment, Beck stated. Federal crop insurance provides investment insurance against practically all natural hazards such as drought, excessive rain, hail, frost, insect infestation and plant disease.

Malheur county crop insurance members are building reserves for any disaster that may strike the county. Applications for federal crop insurance may be filed with the county extension agent or with Mel Beck in Nyssa.

GUERNSEY BREEDERS PLAN LATE WINTER SALE

At a regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening Malheur County Guernsey club made plans for the first junior Guernsey breeders sale to be held in the late winter.

Registered purebred calves of various ages will be available for 4-H and FFA projects.

Steven Patterson was an overnight guest of Reed Patterson at the Grant Patterson home.

Butterfat Test High On Malheur Herds

Seventeen of the 35 dairy herds testing under the standard dairy herd improvement program made records averaging more than 30 pounds of butterfat during September, the county extension agent has reported.

The Holstein herd owned by Earl Faw of Vale made highest average with a record of 40.2 pounds of fat. Second highest record of 39.3 pounds was made by Joe Payne's Guernsey herd, also of Vale.

The report submitted to the state extension dairymen by Harry R. Sandquist, Malheur county agent, lists three herds from Nyssa with an average monthly production above 35 pounds. These herds are owned by Hunting and Bosch, A. L. Thompson and Son and Toomb and Phifer.

Dairymen with herds making records of over 30 pounds average were Fred Patterson, L. Bland Vaughn, Archie Kardell, Edmond Moore and J. Irvin Hart of Vale, W. C. Weaver of Harper and Howard Bair and Leroy Herrman of Nyssa. Ontario herd owners with 30 pounds of butterfat average were Paul Cleaver, the Ontario Farms, Louis Wettstein and Gilbert Sproul.

Two Jersey cows in the Thompson herd completed yearly records high enough to be included on the standard honor roll. These records of 464 and 403 pounds of fat in the 305-day testing period were made by two of Thompson's two-year-old registered Jerseys.
