The Soldiers' Oldest Missile
 Recent missile failures and success—the Navy flub, the Army Explorer success and the Air Force fizzle—may make many an Army veteran chuckle as he reminisces about off-duty experiences during World War II. No doubt most of them recall barroom and barracks sessions involving arguments over the three branches of the service and their rejoinder that either ended all arguments or wound up in fistfights: "The Navy gets the pay, the Air Corps gets the credit and the Army does the work."

RELIGION IN BROTHERHOOD WEEK

By the Rev. Paul Ludlow
 Jonah was the reluctant prejudiced prophet in a tale of long ago. He ran away from a clear call to duty because he would rather see his enemies destroyed than to have them repent and live.

In running away he encountered stormy weather, was swallowed up by adversity and was finally rescued by a sea-sick fish. The call to duty came again and Jonah hearkened but took no pleasure in warning the people of Nineveh of impending judgment. The pleasure was gone because Jonah suspected that God would forgive if they repented.

After delivering his message of doom, Jonah sat in the shade of a gourd vine to see what would happen to the wicked city. When the blow did not fall, our reluctant prophet pouted and wished he might die. Jonah reflects the attitude of many modern patriots.

Have we tried to run away from our responsibility as a Christian nation?

Do we not feel that the Communists have forfeited all right to the love of God?

Do we rejoice when we hear that Russia has taken a more tolerant attitude toward Christianity or do we say, "Just another clever propaganda trick?"

"There's a wideness in God's mercy, like the wideness of the sea; for the love of God is broader than the measure of man's mind . . ."

The only chosen people are those who choose to do God's will.
